We are a Bible centered group of believers desiring to grow in the full knowledge of Jesus Christ without compromise to His Word.

"Some want to live within the sound of church or chapel bell; I want to run a rescue shop within a yard of hell. God has called me to go, and I will go. I will blaze the trail though my grave may only become a stepping stone that younger men may follow."

THE CORNER

Dear Friends,

When my first son came into this world, I was overjoyed and awestruck that God had entrusted this little bundle into my care. Minutes after Andrew was born, I held him in my arms and gave him back to the Lord. After all, he wasn't mine, God had just entrusted him to me as a temporary caretaker on this earth. I knew that when I gave Andrew back to the Lord, He would look after Andrew even better than I could.

Shortly after Andrew's birth, Katerina and I were inundated with learning the ropes of being new parents. Everything was new to us and our lives were completely changed. We had left the phase of being just a married couple and entered into the second phase. It was at this time that I began to read through the Bible to see what it had to say about parenting. One of the verses I came across was Proverbs 22:6, which says: "Train up a child in the way he should go: and when he is old, he will not depart from it."

I thought back to my childhood and the lessons and values my parents had invested in me and how this particular scripture was true in my life. As Andrew is getting older, it's clear that he is imitating me in many ways; his eyes and ears are watching my actions and listening to my words. I want the best for him and realize that I need to be a good example. Just reading the Bible is not enough, I need to live out the instructions so Andrew will be able to see Jesus in me. I want the best for Andrew and it is my desire to see that he prospers and makes a choice to follow Christ. When I came across Deuteronomy 6:6-7, I realized the seriousness of being a father. God clearly says there isn't a moment of the day where He should not be involved in our activities and conversations. I have come to realize that the Creator knows children are like little sponges, they will simply absorb whatever is around them.

Andrew is now three and recently gave me proof that God's Word is true. It took place as we were in the car driving to a destination. I was feeling a little depressed and lost in my thoughts. All of a sudden Andrew spoke up and told me that he wanted to pray for me. That got my attention because I had never heard him say this before. I immediately encouraged him to pray and was astonished when he began to pray word for word like I do. In all the times I have prayed with Andrew, I knew he was listening, but it wasn't until that day that I realized just how much he was really absorbing. I was truly blessed to see that God was honoring His Word and awed that the Holy Spirit used Andrew to minister to me. I decided that my pity party was over and it was time to give the devil a headache, so we sang and praised the Lord with all our might! What a joy it was to share this precious time with my son! What a joy it is to be able to obediently follow the instructions in the Bible and see the reward!

I would like to leave you with the chorus to Steve Green's song, "Find Us Faithful." It inspires me to be a man of God for my children and for all the other people that see me and know that I am Christian. "May all who come behind us find us faithful. May the fire of our devotion light their way. May the footprints that we leave, lead them to believe. And the lives we live inspire them to obey. Oh may all who come behind us find us faithful."

May God richly bless you today,

A SHORT REVIEW OF THE SO-CALLED RECESSION

BY JOHN S. TORELL

Time is rolling on and we have now finished the third month of 2008. The drumbeat concerning the economies in the world, which started as a faint whisper back in 2007, is getting louder and louder. The news comes at us daily about the meltdown of the housing market, rising oil prices, the world's stock markets pummeling with staggering job losses. We can sense fear coming over the American people as they have lived in luxury and now are facing the reality of not only a recession but a possible deep depression. I want to share with you what I believe is happening and what God wants us believers in Christ to do in times like this.

ARE WE AS A NATION BEING JUDGED BY GOD?

In my mind there is no doubt that God has punctured the roll of "good days and plenty of luxuries." During the last five years, God has allowed disaster after disaster to strike our nation and instead of pastors, evangelists and political leaders calling for prayer, fasting and repentance, the cry has been "we are strong, we will rebuild" and the president has declared time and time again that areas hit with storms, fires, earthquakes, floods etc. be declared "disaster areas" and eligible for federal aid.

This human drive, that we can do anything if we work hard enough is not new, we find this in the time right after the great flood. The descendants of Noah and his three sons knew why God had judged the human race so harshly. Instead of being thankful that God had given them grace and allowed them to live and multiply and do the work of God on the earth, they decided to make sure that they would build a legacy. Look at these Bible verses and understand the mindset of the people and the response from God. The behavior at that time of people is no difference from what is happening today. And the Bible tells us that God never changes, he is the same yesterday, today and forever.

And the whole earth was of one language, and of one speech. And it came to pass, as they journeyed from the east, that they found a plain in the land of Shinar; and they dwelt there. And they said one to another, Go to, let us make brick, and burn them thoroughly. And they had brick for stone, and slime had they for mortar.

And they said, Go to, let us build us a city and a tower, whose top may reach unto heaven; and let us make us a name, lest we be scattered abroad upon the face of the whole earth. And the LORD came down to see the city and the tower, which the children of men builded. And the LORD said, Behold, the people is one, and they have all one language; and this they begin to do: and now nothing will be restrained from them, which they have imagined to do. Go to, let us go down, and there confound their language, that they may not understand one another's speech.

So the LORD scattered them abroad from thence upon the face of all the earth: and they left off to build the city. Therefore is the name of it called Babel; because the LORD did there confound the language of all the earth: and from thence did the LORD scatter them abroad upon the face of all the earth. Genesis 11:1-9

THE GLOBAL ECONOMY

To have a global economy there must be a global language. At the beginning of the 20th century, there were four global languages: English, German, French and Spanish. These were the languages used by the nations which were the major players in the economic and industrial development. World War II brought the world into an era that has been named "The American Century." The industrial complexes and the economies of the great European nations lay in ruins, including Japan, Russia and China.

God had used the United States to destroy the evil of Nazism and the empirical dream of the Japanese warlords. The American people had suffered greatly from 1929 through 1940 with a deep economic depression, and WW II blew the depression away. By 1945 the American economy was robust, factories had been built, and everyone had a job while the rest of the world had been devastated.

The political leaders in America at that time undertook a program called "The Marshall Plan" in which American finances and equipment were given to former enemies as well as friends to rebuild the economies of England, France, Germany, and western European nations. Japan was occupied by the United States, but instead of enslaving its people, the United States worked with the Japanese people and rebuilt the nation.

From 1945 through the mid 1960's, American factories were humming and churning out goods, which were sold worldwide. Oil was cheap (gasoline was 19 cents per gallon), the dollar was the top currency, and if people around the world wanted to do global business, they had to do it in English and in U.S. dollars.

The standard of living rose dramatically in America and the people became hungry consumers, buying luxury items their parents could never have afforded. Americans became investors and demanded a high yield on their investments. The financial climate was changing fast; quality was no longer the goal for goods produced; instead, there was a competition to produce as much as possible at the lowest possible price. The quality of American automobiles and all other products was diminishing.

By now the war torn nations in the world had been rebuilt and re-tooled. With brand new factories and steel plants, they were able to compete with the older factories in the United States. Suddenly, the American business leaders became greedier as the American investors demanded better profits from the stocks they held. The American auto makers who pretty much drove the American economy, along with the housing industry, steel and manufacturing plants, found themselves in fierce competition with the new players in Germany, Japan, and Korea.

Since labor costs were cheaper in Mexico, India and other third world nations, American corporations outsourced their production into newly built factories in these nations, with the reasoning that they could produce cheaper products and then export them back to the American consumer market. It was cheaper for American corporations to abandon their old facilities in the U.S. and move the production overseas. What the corporation leaders did not think about was that people out of work do not buy a lot of products.

The result was that the great production centers in the Midwest became known as "the rust belt" as jobs moved "south of the border." In the short run, American investors made lots of money on their investments, but no one thought of the future. The American consumer is the biggest market in the world, driving the global economy, but if American consumers lose their jobs, they can no longer buy.

THE FEDERAL RESERVE BANKS (FRB)

The Federal Reserve is a private banking corporation of 12 banks. Since its beginning in 1913, its chairman has most of the time been Jewish. This is America's central banking system, which controls the amount of cash allowed in the nation and also sets the prime interest rate. The president and the Congress have no power over the FRB. Furthermore, it is the FRB that is in charge of printing currency for the United States, and the currency is then "lent" to the U.S. Treasury Department, which in turn must pay interest to this private banking corporation.

In short, the United States of America gave away the right to print its own money to a private institution and then was forced to borrow money from the FRB and pay interest on it. The fight to chain the United States down was led by the Jewish banker Jacob Schiff, who together with other Jewish American bankers bribed or strong armed members of Congress to give away America's right to print and control its own money. The current chairman of the FRB, Ben S. Bernanke, is an American Jew.

It is noteworthy to point out that two American presidents were assassinated over the issue of printing money, first Abraham Lincoln (Greenbacks) and secondly John F. Kennedy (silver certificates). I have in my possession a few dollar bills, which are labeled silver certificates and on the dollar bills it reads "The United States of America."

It is the FRB that over the years increased the money supply in the United States in order for regular banks to issue credit cards so that the American consumer could be enticed to purchase more products and at the same time get in debt to the International Bankers. In order for the United States government to continue its reckless spending spree, it is continually issuing treasury bonds, which are sold to foreign governments, private citizens around the world and wealthy foreign corporations. Interest must be paid for this, and this is paid for by borrowing money from the FRB, with more interest. Thus the national debt is owed to people who are not necessarily "in love with America" but are milking her dry of her resources.

Holders of American cash and loans are China, Japan, Korea, and a number of Middle East oil producing nations. The value of the dollar has fallen 27.65 % since 2004. At some point these nations will make a decision to sell off their dollar holdings before the American dollar sinks further. When that day comes, the American dollar will lose its value and America will face a hyper-inflation worse than what happened to Germany in the early 1930's.

The real reason for the spike in oil prices is that the international oil market is tied to the dollar; oil can only be purchased in dollars. With a falling dollar, the oil producing nations are going to up the price for crude oil so they will be able to maintain the same profit level.

THE STANDARD OF LIVING WILL BE LOWER

When American corporations began to shut down their production in the United States in the early 1970's, many high paid workers and white collar workers had to accept low paying jobs and change their lifestyles.

The Cold War with Russia kept the military industrial complex going and thus jobs were created in this sector. NASA and the space development produced hundreds of thousands of jobs across the United States and the emerging computer and software industry rescued the nation.

But with the Cold War over in the 1990's came the painful military base closings in the United States; tens of thousands of people lost their jobs and whole communities went into a deep financial slump. The fight against terrorism and the wars in Iraq and Afghanistan have given some relief since wars always produce jobs. With high unemployment, recruiting in the Armed Forces will go up.

The bitter pill of losing jobs that American workers had to face is now confronting workers in Mexico and in other countries as they are now losing jobs to even poorer countries. As manufacturing jobs from the United States and Europe moved to third world nations, the standard of living went up there and with it wages. The greedy American corporations have now pulled out of Mexico, Korea, Vietnam, India, etc. since wages there have risen. The manufacturing is now being moved to Bangladesh, Thailand, East European nations coming out of communism, Micronesia, etc., where the labor rate is still cheap, and the corporations do not have to pay health insurance, overtime, pensions, etc., which are dirty words to investors.

THE HOUSING MARKET

The Jewish international bankers were not happy with the American consumers. They wanted them to spend more in order for these bankers and corporation leaders to make more money. The next target to bankrupt the American people was to "steal" their homes. Therefore, "creative financing" was invented and advertised. Since the World Government controls the FRB, interest rates were lowered and the drum beat began, refinance your home, get access to your equity and buy a new automobile, take a vacation, spend, spend, spend.

Home appraisals were inflated; people were enticed to buy homes beyond what their income could support. Loans were given; low rates to begin with, interest payments only, no down payment and no payment on principal. People in the mortgage industry worked overtime and could not process all the loans demanded.

People got into their dream homes, purchased new cars, trucks and boats, went on vacations, gambled at the casinos, purchased all kinds of home furnishings and times were good. Loans were bundled and sold to investment companies, promising their investors a great profit.

Then the bubble burst, low interest loans converted automatically to higher interest and principal payments, and the borrowers could not pay. A domino effect began and now thousands of people are losing their homes every month, mortgage companies are closing down, and the sub prime lenders had to write off billions of dollars in losses. More people are out of work, which means less consumer spending. General Motors, Ford and Chrysler cannot sell as many cars, so they are cutting back, thus, more layoffs and fewer consumers to keep the economy going. This will affect the steel industry and all the small factories producing parts for automobiles and trucks. There is a glut of houses on the market, thus the construction industry has stopped building – more workers laid off.

This is the naked truth: the American people became fools and now the whole nation is called into an economical judgment. The standard of living is going to be lowered and the focus will now be on having a place to live, food to eat and how to survive on less and less.

WHAT GOD SAID SOME 3000 YEARS AGO

"Woe to them that are at ease in Zion, and trust in the mountain of Samaria, which are named chief of the nations, to whom the house of Israel came! Pass ye unto Calneh, and see; and from thence go ye to Hamath the great: then go down to Gath of the Philistines: be they better than these kingdoms? or their border greater than your border? Ye that put far away the evil day, and cause the seat of violence to come near; That lie upon beds of ivory, and stretch themselves upon their couches, and eat the lambs out of the flock, and the calves out of the midst of the stall; That chant to the sound of the viol, and invent to themselves instruments of musick, like David; That drink wine in bowls, and anoint themselves with the chief ointments: but they are not grieved for the affliction of Joseph.

Therefore now shall they go captive with the first that go captive, and the banquet of them that stretched themselves shall be removed. The Lord GOD hath sworn by himself, saith the LORD the God of hosts, I abhor the excellency of Jacob, and hate his palaces: therefore will I deliver up the city with all that is therein. And it shall come to pass, if there remain ten men in one house, that they shall die. And a man's uncle shall take him up, and he that burneth him, to bring out the bones out of the house, and shall say unto him that is by the sides of the house, Is there yet any with thee? and he shall say, No. Then shall he say, Hold thy tongue: for we may not make mention of the name of the LORD. For, behold, the LORD commandeth, and he will smite the great house with breaches, and the little house with clefts. Shall horses run upon the rock? Will one plow there with oxen? For ye have turned judgment into gall, and the fruit of righteousness into hemlock: Ye which rejoice in a thing of nought, which say, Have we not taken to us horns by our own strength?

But, behold, I will raise up against you a nation, O house of Israel, saith the LORD the God of hosts; and they shall afflict you from the entering in of Hemath unto the river of the wilderness.” Amos 6:1-14

WHAT CAN WE DO AS CHRISTIANS?

This is the time for faith in God. Some of you were children during the Great Depression, others like me were born just prior to WWII, many of you are baby boomers that are used to the “good times” and then we have the generations born after 1980 who have grown up in a time of prosperity. Now our Christian faith is going to be tested, but whatever is going to happen now cannot be compared to what it will be like during the great tribulation. Here is what God tells us:

Seek you the kingdom of God first. If you have been serving God, walked with Him and are trusting Him as your Lord and Saviour, He will take care of you. Matthew 6:33-34

If you have been a tithing Christian, God has a covenant with you and is obligated by His own Word to take care of you. Malachi 3:6-12

This financial judgment from God is not the end of the world. There will still be jobs, even if the wages are going to be lower. As Christians, we need to tighten our finances and use discernment in how we spend our money. We should not live like people in the world, who are wasting their resources on things, which they do not need. Read the beautiful words that God spoke 2,700 years ago through His prophet. Isaiah 55:1-13

God will continue to use His businessmen, contractors and manufacturers, even in a deep depression. The money is not gone from the world; it has been squandered by unsaved people and hoarded by the people working for the World Government. These people are going to have things done and will pay for it. Look how God sent Joseph to Egypt to take care of his family in a time of famine. Genesis 45:1-8

The Church of the Lord Jesus Christ is not going bankrupt. The Gospel is still going to be preached, and I believe in more power. The big flashy televangelists are not going to weather this storm. I believe they will lose their networks, the multiple luxury homes they have purchased, the airplanes they own, their fancy cars and the lavish lifestyle. The churches belonging to the Purpose Driven movement, the contemporary and emerging churches, the seeker friendly churches are going to lose the people because they will not have the spiritual food to serve to people who have desperate financial needs. People are going to cry out to God in their pain and desperation and the Lord will be there to meet them through the small faithful remnant churches which God has preserved and kept hidden until now. This is a time to repent and return to our first love. Revelation 3:14-22

WHAT ARE WE GOING TO DO?

Back in 1999, the Lord spoke to me that we were to separate our church ministry from our production department. We do not own a church building but rent space where Resurrection Life of Jesus Church meets.

Our production center is located on private property and a very low rent is paid for the buildings used. All equipment used by the ministry is paid for. God has taught us to be frugal and very careful with the money He gives the ministry. The people in this ministry who are on a salary, are modest and most of us drive cars which have been paid for.

It is now clearer than ever that the vision God gave me last year about web casting is from Him. For around $600 per month ($20 per day) we can broadcast not only our Sunday morning services live to any place in the world, but also have the capacity to send teaching seminars and all kinds of programs 24 hours per day if we so wish.

The initial cost of setting this up was first calculated at around $10,000. Then, as we began to research it and make plans, the cost was increased to around $30,000. The good news is that God's people have sent in money for this project but we are still short $12,000 as I write this letter. Therefore, all of the equipment will be paid in full when we start our broadcasting, we will only have to raise a monthly fee for services like web space and bandwidth.

I believe that our ministry will be used by God together with other small ministries to be a beacon and a refuge for the people caught up in the financial crisis now coming our way. You who have been with us, some for many years, others just joining us, will be sustained by God. God will give you enough to live on and extra for you to continue to be part of us and support us with your tithes or gifts. Let us start to rejoice in the Lord, magnify His name and begin to proclaim that we are going to be part of the biggest harvest of souls at this time in the history of the earth.

If you feel that you do not have a historical background of what I have written in this letter, we have put together a package which will give you the knowledge you need to understand what is happening now. It will consist of back issues of The Dove magazine and The Flaming Sword newsletter. Just ask for "The End Time's INFO Package," and please include a love offering to cover our cost to produce it and ship it to you.

History of American Government and Law

In 1789 our Founding Fathers gave us a republican form of government based on biblical principles, and since that time we have been blessed above all nations. We have had more freedom, liberty, prosperity, and privileges than any nation on earth. Vaughn Shatzer shows us clearly that the Bible shaped America more than any other source, because our Founding Fathers believed government was ordained of God.

Since its inception, the United States of America has provided people around the world with more civil and religious freedom and liberty than any other country in the history of the world. This is no accident - it is because the godly and courageous men and women who founded this country established it upon the concepts of freedom and liberty they found in the Holy Scriptures.

However, over the last 50 years, our government has slowly changed from being a Christian Republic to a secular "global coalition." Most people, including Christians, know that our government and society have changed but they don't know why or what they can do about it.

History of American Government and Law cites the Declaration of Independence, the Constitution, early U.S. law books and court decisions that provide clear and indisputable proof that our country was established by Christians to be a Christian nation. This small but powerful book also clarifies what God says about our duty as citizens to our nation and what we can do to bring our country back to its Biblical foundations before it is too late.

Prior to receiving Jesus Christ as his personal Savior, Vaughn Shatzer was a lead guitarist with a rock band and lived a lifestyle associated with that role. In 1980, God miraculously brought him out of that horrible pit, set his feet upon a rock, established his goings, and put a new song in his mouth. With an intense burden for lost souls, personal revival among Christians, and returning our godly heritage to America, Vaughn, in 1997 formed "Word of Prophecy Ministries." His desire is to glorify God by being a spirit-filled husband and father, to win souls to Jesus Christ, to mature and edify the body of Christ for the work of the ministry, and to be part of an old-fashioned Holy Ghost revival that would bring America back to God. (2 Chronicles 7:14)

Little of the Word with little prayer is death to the spiritual life. Much of the Word with little prayer gives a sickly life. Much prayer with little of the Word gives more life, but without steadfastness. A full measure of the Word and prayer each day gives healthy and powerful life.

~ Andrew Murray

LIVING VICTORIOUSLY WITH THE LORD'S HELP

CHARLES THORELL

There are people and issues that can irritate me on a daily basis but who doesn't suffer from that? Depending on the variety of emotions and circumstances confronting me, my life can be calm or a roller coaster ride. When things are going against me, it is very easy to blame others for my ups and downs even though I know the problem lies with me. This is what the apostle Paul had to say on this matter:

"For though we walk in the flesh, we do not war after the flesh: (For the weapons of our warfare are not carnal, but mighty through God to the pulling down of strong holds;)" (2 Corinthians 10:3)

A number of years ago I had a job working with flooring materials. My duties involved loading a truck with big rolls of carpet. They were long and heavy, so I was using a fork lift with a pole to get the job done. Let me give you a mental picture of this: think about the roll of paper towels in your kitchen lying horizontally on the countertop. Now if you were to grab a long handled wooden spoon, you could stick the handle into the hollow cardboard roll and lift it up. This is what I was doing by positioning the pole into the hole, pushing it in, lifting it up and driving it to the truck. It required some skill but was relatively easy. On this occasion the cardboard tube in the roll of carpet had collapsed in the middle somewhere making it impossible for me to slide my pole in. Each time I tried, the carpet just got pushed back further in the rack. My frustration turned into anger as this finicky roll of carpet refused to do my bidding. After positioning and repositioning the fork lift a number of times, I soon swore and started praising the devil. No sooner had the words come out of my mouth than the Holy Spirit was right there with the following Scripture:

"Let not sin therefore reign in your mortal body, that ye should obey it in the lusts thereof." (Romans 6:12)

I remember at the time that this was a verse I had not memorized and yet it was so clear in my mind! God and His holy angels, as well as Satan and his demons were all watching me. When I cursed in anger, I can imagine God just shaking His head and saying, "tsk, tsk tsk, you shouldn't have done that." He then sent the Holy Spirit to remind me of my problem and the curse I had brought upon myself. I had opened the door for evil spirits to oppress me, but God had a solution. I repented, asked the Lord for guidance and was able to finish the job. When I got home that evening, I opened up my Bible and read the whole chapter including this verse:

"Neither yield ye your members as instruments of unrighteousness unto sin: but yield yourselves unto God, as those that are alive from the dead, and your members as instruments of righteousness unto God." (Romans 6:13)

It is important to realize there will always be circumstances that will give rise to varying emotions. There will be days where you are late for an appointment and can't find your keys. You're in such a hurry that you take off and realize that you forgot your wallet or purse and have to go back. When you finally get back in the car and down the road you hit every single red light along the way? How about your computer breaking down or being disrespected by a co-worker or family member? Have you had these experiences? I have. In these kinds of situations, it's really easy to lose your temper and praise the Devil. All these circumstances can lead to you reacting in anger and doing something that grieves the Holy Spirit. (Ephesians 4:29-32; James 1:19-20)

My reason for mentioning these things is that until the day we die, there will always be an instance where an evil spirit provides you with the opportunity to be insulted and hurt. If you think about it, we live on a prison planet where Satan and his demons have been honing their skills for over six thousand years. Each evil spirit has a specialty that they perfected long before you and I ever arrived on the planet. It is therefore important to realize that evil spirits will always be around and active in our lives until we go home to be with the Lord. The important part is how we deal with the situation when a demon attacks.

Think about the relationship between a parent and child; if the child throws a fit, the parent needs to remain calm and discipline them. After all, what good can an emotional and angry parent do? The parent needs to rise above the circumstance and take dominion over the child. I really like the word "dominion;" for Christians, it means that we have the right to command evil spirits in the authority of Jesus name, and more importantly, they have to obey! There are countless battles fought each day in the minds of men and women all over the world. Before we can go and take care of the world, we need to deal with the battle in our minds first. This is where we declare to the Devil, "In Jesus name, I will not be defeated any longer!" We need to use the weapon made available to us by the Lord to "cast down imaginations, and every high thing that exalts itself against the knowledge of God, and bring into captivity every thought to the obedience of Christ." (2 Corinthians 10:5)

I know that if you were to go to a secular therapist, they would tell you to be positive and take charge of the situation. If you're angry with someone, walk away and talk with them when you've cooled down. They are full of good advice but we can't ignore the spiritual dynamic that will cause us to fail if we only rely on ourselves. It is imperative to have the Holy Ghost power operating in our lives! The disciples of Jesus were relatively weak-kneed before they were baptized in the fire of the Holy Ghost; then they were changed men, who boldly proclaimed the Gospel against much opposition. Oh they still encountered problems and were persecuted by the Devil but they were strong when they surrendered to the leading of the Holy Ghost. The baptism of the Holy Ghost and constant infillings are an essential part of being saved and walking in victory.

The apostle Paul was a great man of God but even he struggled with problems. He repeatedly asked the Lord to remove a particular affliction, but God replied: “My grace is sufficient for thee: for my strength is made perfect in weakness.” (2 Corinthians 12:9a)

The Bible doesn't say how long Paul thought about this but we do know his attitude afterwards toward this problem.

“Most gladly therefore will I rather glory in my infirmities, that the power of Christ may rest upon me. Therefore I take pleasure in infirmities, in reproaches, in necessities, in persecutions, in distresses for Christ's sake: for when I am weak, then am I strong.” (2 Corinthians 12:9b-10)

A therapist will tell you to think positively, this is good, but that alone will ultimately doom you to failure. Paul realized that the secret to success was not solely through positive thinking but recognizing his inherent frailness and relying upon the Lord as his source of strength. Secular counselors have removed Christ from the equation; they encourage working out your problems through sheer willpower and are therefore working at a disadvantage. If you take the advice found in the Bible and strip God out of it, it is powerless. You and I can only do so much by ourselves, but with Christ we can do anything and everything with no limitations! (Philippians 4:13)

There will always be an evil spirit waiting to do you some harm. They can attack you in your mind but they can also come at you in the form of another human being who is being manipulated by them. It is important to recognize that we need to rise above the problem by “casting down imaginations” in Jesus name. In doing so, we “bring into captivity every thought to the obedience of Christ.” I am reminded how when Jesus had finished His forty day fast, the Devil tried to entice Him, but Jesus just responded with “It is written...” Using Jesus as our example, we need to rise above the circumstances and take dominion!

Most Christians ignore verse six because they don't know what to do with it. “And having in a readiness to revenge all disobedience, when your obedience is fulfilled.” (2 Corinthians 10:6) It simply means that when we are walking with the Lord in holiness and obedience, we can go after the demons with a vengeance. Jesus obviously had respect in the spirit world because the evil spirits obeyed Him, not because they wanted to, but because they had no other choice. When we bring our battles “into captivity,” we recognize that it is not of our power but the redemptive work of Jesus on the cross and it is through Him that we can be strong.

There will also be times when we get so locked up by the Devil and his demons that we just can't get ourselves free. We know what we need to do but we just can't mobilize ourselves. That is when you need to have faithful brothers and sisters in Christ, willing to stand in the gap and pray you out! Jesus never intended for us to be lone rangers, rather, we are a body that rallies to help those in need. (1 Corinthians 12:12-27)

As Pastor John recently exhorted in a sermon, “Expect miracles from God; live and walk in the supernatural realm. Never look at circumstances, the bigger the obstacle, the bigger the miracle will be!”

If anything I've written is new or if there are questions that have arisen, I would like to recommend the following resources:

THE BIBLE

If you don't have a Bible, get one! Out of all the materials and resources I mention, this is by far the most important one. Nothing can replace an intimate knowledge of Scripture. A Christian who doesn't know what the Bible says will be carried about by every whim of false doctrine, including the thoughts that Satan will put in your mind.

Sword Bible

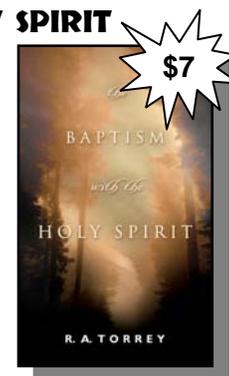

Spanish/English Parallel Bible

Inexpensive Small Print Witnessing Bible

THE BAPTISM WITH THE HOLY SPIRIT

If you want to know more about the Holy Ghost, this book is excellent. R.A. Torrey said it was a great turning point in his life when he decided the baptism with the Holy Spirit was an experience for today and set about obtaining it. The Bible, if carefully studied, will give you a view of this wondrous blessing that is perfectly clear and remarkably definite.

In clear and simple language Torrey teaches: What the baptism with the Holy Spirit is and what it does; Its necessity for the believer; How this experience can be obtained; The need for re-filling with the Holy Spirit; How spiritual power is lost.

Rick Madison was involved in a head-on collision in which he received numerous broken bones, a torn aortic artery, a ruptured spleen and a punctured lung. He remained in a coma for 27 days with the doctors advising his family to make funeral arrangements on three separate occasions because it looked so grim.

However, there were prayer warriors in his family who believed Jesus could raise him up. God raised him out of a coma and later he walked out of a wheelchair. He was completely delivered from drugs, alcohol, and tobacco and filled with the Holy Ghost. He is now a full-time evangelist who travels the world to tell the remarkable story of how God raised him from his deathbed and made him into a new person.

This is a thrilling account of God's grace and power. Listen to Rick's testimony on the accompanying CD. Rick's enthusiasm and fire for the Lord is contagious, for he truly knows there is nothing impossible for God!

King's kids live in the natural world, yet they enjoy heavenly rule. It's more fun that way. Unlikely things happen when you follow God! Harold Hill said his life was a big, fat, miserable success until he learned how to live as a child of the King.

This is not a book about organized religion but a personal relationship with a living God who wants to interact with you daily. Harold shares some insights from his life of what he learned about the Lord and how to deal with life's various situations.

Report: North Korea Sets Up Fake Underground Churches to Expose Christians

The North Korean government is reportedly setting up fake underground churches and disguising national security agents as defectors to expose Christians, reported a North Korea-focused online news agency.

The Daily NK, established by long-time activists who have been working to change North Korea, claims that a portion of underground churches existing in North Korea are disguised churches controlled by North Korea's National Security Agency.

“The fact that North Korea government formed a fake underground church with National Security Agency agents was revealed as the truth,” an inside source told the Daily NK.

According to the source, NSA agents disguise themselves as defectors and approach Korean church organizations based in China to receive Bibles and money. After they receive funds by claiming to church organizations that they are engaging in mission activities, they start up secret churches beginning with NSA agents and then concentrate their efforts to arrest real secret churches connected with China.

The Daily NK’s inside source said they verified this fact with an NSA-related member. Among NSA agents, the operation is an open secret.

The fake underground church is receiving funds from Korean churches that do not know the reality of the situation, the inside source claimed.

If the Korean church is not stricter about the security regarding the underground church support project and underground church member circumstances then they will fill up the stomachs of NSA agents and cause damage to the underground church, the source added.

North Korea, one of the most repressive regimes in the world, has been criticized for the systemic, widespread and serious violations of human rights that reportedly take place in the country as well as the government’s refusal to cooperate with the U.N. human rights commissioner or special investigator.

The communist state has also been criticized for its all pervasive and severe restrictions on freedom of expression, religion, assembly and movement, its imposition of the death penalty for political reasons, the detention of thousands in prison camps, the punishment and torture of border-crossers, and the maltreatment of people with disabilities.

North Korea is ranked by the international ministry Open Doors as the world’s worst persecutor of Christians.

Thoughts on the Spitzer Sex Scandal

By Chuck Baldwin

March 14, 2008

By now everyone in the information world knows about the sex scandal that forced New York Governor Eliot Spitzer out of office. For those who have been on Mars the past few days, Governor Spitzer was caught in an FBI wiretap probe involving an expensive prostitution service. Apparently, the governor has been utilizing these prostitution services for some ten years and has spent tens of thousands of dollars for his numerous trysts. The sting that caught him involved a banking institution alerting federal authorities (as they do millions--yes millions--of times every year) to “suspicious” financial transactions between Spitzer and the call girl service, The Emperors Club VIP. At the time of this writing, no criminal charges have been filed against Spitzer. (They seldom are in these cases.) Obviously, the embarrassment of the revelation forced Spitzer to resign.

Should Governor Spitzer have resigned? Of course. Elected officials who practice adultery betray more than their families; they betray the trust of the people who elected them. In the old days, adultery would even have disqualified a person from military or government promotion--perhaps even their very position. Adultery is the cause of countless divorces and the source of many children’s and teenagers’ societal malfunction. It is a curse on our country. No one abhors adultery more than I do.

Eliot Spitzer

That said, there is a nagging question in the back of my mind, Why did the hammer fall on Governor Spitzer now? After all, it is no hyperbole to say that when it comes to big league politics, adultery and fornication are, sadly, par for the course. And readers don’t need to write and tell me how judgmental I am, because it is the truth.

Sometimes I wish I had not learned the things I’ve learned and had not been exposed to the truth as I have been. Sometimes the truth is not very pretty. And the fact is, Washington politics--and by virtue of his very position, the governor of New York is included in Washington politics--is infested with sexual immorality. And “infested” is putting it mildly. The Republican and Democrat parties alike are awash in sexual immorality--both heterosexual and homosexual. And 99% of this debauchery is never reported. The guilty politicians are never "caught," never "outed."

So, why was Governor Spitzer "caught?" Don't forget that Spitzer has been carrying on this way for at least ten years. Suddenly, now, he is found out.

They say that Governor Spitzer was "Client 9" for this particular hooker. So, who are "clients 1-8"? And who are "clients 10-100"? Why do we not know their names? Anyone able to afford this prostitute's price of $1,000 per hour has to be someone of means. Who were they?

Were the other "clients" CEOs of Fortune 500 companies? If so, which ones? Were they congressmen or senators? If so, who? Were they White House executives? Were they Pentagon brass? Were they media celebrities? If so, what are their names? Were they foreign diplomats? If so, who are they, and from which countries did they come? Do you get my point?

How is it that in this elaborate FBI "sting," only Governor Eliot Spitzer was "caught?"

Now, do not get me wrong, I personally never did like Spitzer. For one thing, he is a New York liberal. That, all by itself, is enough for me to dislike the man. Furthermore, he did everything in his power to force the state of New York to decriminalize and legitimize illegal aliens. That, too, would be enough for me to dislike him. Beyond that, he, by all accounts, was a mean-spirited, arrogant, crush-anybody-who-got-in-his-way kind of guy. Let's face it, Eliot Spitzer is an easy man to dislike (at least for me).

However, Spitzer's personality and public policies are not the issue here. Aberrant sexual conduct among the politically powerful is exclusive to no political party or agenda. Adulterers are found among Democrats and Republicans, liberals and conservatives, old and young, men and women, northerners and southerners, easterners and westerners, Christians, and Jews, as well as people of no particular faith. I ask again, Why was Governor Spitzer "caught?"

Ladies and gentlemen, if the FBI or the major media wanted to publicize the dirt that they already have on the various "high and mighty" in Washington, D.C., half the city would be resigning tomorrow.

So, why was Governor Spitzer "outed"? I do not have the answer to that question, but, mark it down, somebody in Washington, D.C. has the answer. Somebody--or a group of somebodies--decided that Eliot Spitzer had to go. Of that I am sure. I wish I knew who they were, and I wish I knew the reason why. But, believe me, there was a reason.

There is an old saying inside the Beltway, "When it comes to politics, there are no accidents or coincidences." There is a reason for everything that goes on in Washington, D.C. That is something you can take to the old proverbial bank. It's just that unimportant people such as you and me are not privy to what those reasons are.

Of course there is another saying, "Be sure your sin will find you out." That's from God's playbook, the Bible. But for most of the rich and powerful reprobates who are engaging in this insidious conduct, that discovery will only come when they stand before the final judgment bench in eternity.

When it is convenient, or necessary, however, some scoundrels such as Governor Eliot Spitzer will be found out by the FBI and mainstream media. I sure would like to know the reason why. Wouldn't you?

The other element of this story that is being vastly underreported is the fact that federal police agencies are secretly looking at the financial transactions of the American people all the time. According to the USA Today, "Banks and credit unions as well as currency dealers and stores that cash checks reported a record 17.6 million transactions to the Financial Crimes Enforcement Network in 2006, according to a report from the network, a bureau of the U.S. Treasury Department."

The Today story goes on to say, "The Treasury Department's database now contains records of more than 100 million financial transactions going back to at least 1996, said network spokesman Steve Hudak."

Today also reported, "Financial institutions have long been required to report cash transactions over $10,000. Those reports--simple notices of a deposit or withdrawal--account for more than 90% of the records the enforcement network gets each year.

"Far more controversial are secret 'suspicious activity reports' filed by financial institutions and reviewed by teams of agents spread around the country. . . .

"The number of suspicious activity reports soared from 413,000 in 2003 to 1 million in 2006, according to the enforcement network."

The American people are largely unaware that they are now living in a universal surveillance society. Virtually every major financial transaction--as well as much of their travel--is reported and monitored by the federal government. This total surveillance system, that began in earnest under Bill Clinton's administration, has mushroomed into a ubiquitous and finely tuned science under George W. Bush. Dare I say that Dubya's neurotic fixation with spying on ordinary citizens rivals Comrade Stalin's paranoid obsession with a total surveillance society?

I can tell readers first-hand what living in this Brave New World is like. Back in the late '90's, I bought a used 1995 GMC half-ton, four wheel drive pick-up truck (which I still own). Over the course of a few years, I had saved around $5,000 in cash. I then sold my well-worn Ford Ranger pick-up truck for $5,000 cash. I was hoping I could pay cash for a bigger and better truck. Over the years growing up, I had watched my dad pay cash for most all of his purchases, including his vehicles. I thought it was one of the ultimate marks of freedom and enterprise in these United States to be able to work, save, and buy something of value with cash. I quickly discovered that the Federales in power these days do not share that same vision of freedom.

When I finally found the truck I mentioned, it cost a few thousand more than what I had saved, so I had to write a check for the difference. So, with $10,000 in cash and a check on borrowed funds, I drove off the car lot with my new (used) truck. It happens every day, right? Nothing unusual, right? Wrong!

To my shock and chagrin, a few days following the purchase of my truck, a criminal investigator from the IRS came to my front door and demanded to know where I got the cash to pay for my truck. I am not making this up, folks. After a lengthy interrogation, the IRS man left, but not before issuing me a subpoena to appear before a federal grand jury. Remember, this was in the late '90's, before Jorge Bush and Alberto Gonzales got their dictatorial hands on the helm of the myriad federal police agencies.

Mark it down, folks: you and I are constantly being watched, listened to, monitored, taped, and stalked by our own government. So, do any of us really believe that we still live in a free country? All this talk about a war on terrorism is a bunch of hooey. What is really happening is a war on freedom. The so-called "War on Terror" is only a smokescreen to hide the real agenda, which is to develop a federal police state where individual liberty is completely vanquished. And the really sad part of all of this is the manner in which the American people--especially our pastors and churches--seem to be willing to embrace and accept this burgeoning police state.

But since when did patriotism come to mean the acceptance of a total surveillance society? When did patriotism come to mean the love of Big Government or infatuation with Big Brother? When did patriotism come to mean the sacrifice of liberty in the name of security? When did patriotism come to mean the surrender of constitutional government and personal freedoms? When did patriotism come to mean submission to tyrannical bureaucracies?

Am I saddened that Eliot Spitzer got "caught?" Not a bit. He was just another rich reprobate who got what was coming to him. But, I still want to know why he was exposed, while all the others who are just as guilty, continue to enjoy the protection of anonymity.

What does sadden me is the manner in which our once-great land of independence and freedom is being turned into a globalist-dominated oligarchy, ruled by the iron fist of corrupt elitists. Plus, I am still waiting for the American people to awaken to what is going on and put a stop to it all. We had an opportunity to do just that by supporting the Presidential candidacy of Congressman Ron Paul. How many more opportunities will we have?

Don't Forget the Jerk (for Christians only)

By Ray Comfort

I'm not big on fishing. I far prefer catching. However, there can be no catching without fishing, so I have made a point of studying the skills that make a difference as to whether I catch or fish.

For example, there is a right and wrong way to bait a hook. Bait should be used to attract fish and at the same time disguise the hook. Fish are not stupid. They aren't going to bite onto a hook that they can see. So, a wise fisherman baits the hook to hide its deadly barbs. Then, when he sees that a fish is nibbling at the bait, he quickly jerks the line and pulls the hook into the jaw, and reels him in.

Apologetics are wonderful bait. I love even the smell of a good apologetical argument. It can't help but attract the fish. He doesn't see anything threatening about an argument about the Bible. He knows he can win any dispute about that book of myths. It has an aroma that attracts him.

God's Law is the hook; and it's that from which he instinctively keeps his distance. It threatens him. That's because it brings the knowledge of sin (see Romans 3:19, 20), so his mind is naturally hostile towards the Law. The Scriptures tells us that his carnal mind is at "enmity" with God, it's "not subject to the Law of God, neither can it be" (see Romans 8:7). He isn't stupid. If he can see the Law, he's not going to bite. So a wise fisher of men will carefully hide the hook under some good bait.

Jesus did this with the woman at the well. He first spoke of natural water. Nothing threatening here. Then He quickly pulled the hook of the Law into her jaw, by using the Seventh Commandment to bring the knowledge of sin (see John 4:16).

Paul did a similar thing in Athens. His heart was stirred because the whole city was given over to idolatry (see Acts 17:16). So he baited them by giving an interesting line about their poets, then he quickly jerked the Law into the jaw by preaching against their idolatry (see verses 29-30). They had sinned against God by transgressing the First and the Second of the Ten Commandments. They had "other gods" before Him, and they therefore needed to repent. The Law brought the Athenians the knowledge of sin.

A FLY ON THE ROCK

Despite these examples in Scripture, many Christians go fishing with powerful and attractive apologetics but leave out the hook. They talk about the existence of God, the infallibility of Scripture, archeological findings, creationism, the fallacy of evolution, the age of the earth, the depth of dust on the moon, etc., but they don't see the necessity of using the Law to bring the knowledge of sin.

Let's be a fly on a rock and listen to a well-equipped apologetical fisher of men. He throws a line towards an unbeliever. There is a nibble, and a conversation begins. Good reason for God's existence is given. Back the sinner comes with an argument for atheism. The Christian quotes Scripture. The atheist retaliates with an argument about "circular reasoning." And there begins an intellectual battle. One says that creation is proof for God's existence and the other says it's the mere product of billions of years of evolution. It's a fascinating conversation--an intellectually challenging match of wits for both parties.

However, the argument has no resolution. It seems to be going on forever and going nowhere.

Suddenly, the Christian brings out a powerful point that leaves the atheist with his mouth open. He has no comeback. He is defeated. It's all over. He has lost the argument about the existence of God. Does he then say, "You are right and I am wrong. There is a God and I have sinned against Him. What should I do?" No! Instead he says, "Okay. What about bats? The Bible calls them birds!! Huh? And how about God advocating genocide, and what about slavery? And how about the killing of women who aren't virgins on their wedding night! Your god is nothing but a wicked tyrant!"

There is a very good reason that he isn't giving up the argument. It is because each night he has a habit of going on the Internet and surfing his favorite sites. He has an addiction he loves. He drools over pornography that is so pleasurable, it takes his breath away. Literally. Besides that, he has incredible sex with his gorgeous girlfriend, any time he wants. He didn't know that life could be so good.

Think of it now. A stranger has just come along who wants to put an end to all that pleasure. All of it. If he gives up the battle, he won't be allowed to even look at a woman with lust, let alone have sex with her. This religious nut wants to make him celibate. Horrors! He wants him to sit in a boring church, singing old hymns, listening to a deathly boring priest, and mindlessly clutching a book filled with fairytales. Give up? Are you kidding? So the unbeliever is going to fight this battle with tooth and nail. He is going to fortify his hedonistic lifestyle with the zeal of a Pharisee, and he will do it with every intellectual argument he can find. And he can easily find websites that give a stack of arguments that promise to justify godlessness. There he can arm himself with a mass of rabbit trails down which he can send the unsuspecting Christian.

Take the subject of atheistic evolution. Counter one of his many arguments, and he will dig up another bone of contention. He unearths them like there's no tomorrow. He couldn't care less if they are credible. He just wants to bury every Christian under a mountain of fossils, so that he and his stupid oppressive religion disappear from the face of the earth.

Remember, what has gone on between the two of them has been a battle of intellects. Every time a battle is won by the Christian, another skirmish is started. So if the Christian really wants to win him to the Kingdom of God, he must look to the most skilled fisher of men. He must do what Jesus did. He has to move away from the hostility of the intellect, and go directly to the conscience. And he must do it quickly.

THE LUST HE LOVES

Let me change the analogy for a moment from baits and hooks to swords and shields. The sinner is using his intellect as a shield to keep you away from his conscience, and you will never get to the heart if you don't quickly and purposefully push the shield aside and address his conscience. You must get there, because he will never give up his darling sins if you stay in the intellect.

The Bible says that as Christians, we have "escaped the corruption that is in the world through lust" (2 Peter 1:4, italics added). While we can lust after material things, when the Scriptures speak of lusting after "her beauty," of "burning" lust, and a lust of "uncleanness," it is obviously referring to sexual lust. It is that lust that gives a sinner pleasure, but the Scriptures warn "Then, when lust has conceived, it brings forth sin; and sin, when it is finished, brings forth death" (James 1:15). The sin he so loves truly is a "deadly" sin. The lethal poison he drinks is sweet to his taste, but it will take him to Hell. He doesn't believe that because he has no knowledge of sin (see Romans 7:7). Again, he doesn't understand the consequences of sin, and so he continues to drink iniquity like water, and he will fight to the death for the right to do so.

TAKING CONTROL

Let's say I start a spiritual conversation and have a nibbling fish. He is arguing about bacteria, bones, fossils, Zeus, Thor, so-called biblical contradictions, and quoting Richard Dawkin's hateful words. As he says that God is a monster and Jesus was a liar, I quietly think to myself, "The Jerk." Then, motivated by love, I deliberately take control of the conversation and jerk the Law into his rapidly moving jaw. I am a fisher of men, and I don't want this man to be cast into the lake of fire. I don't want him to be damned in Hell forever. I therefore don't let the fish dictate where we are going.

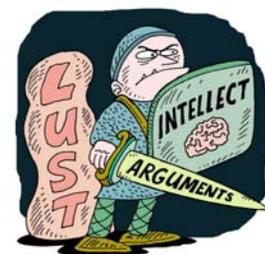

I ask, "Do you think you are a good person?" He says that he knows that he's a good person (see Proverbs 20:6). I say, "Do you think you have kept the Ten Commandments?" He says he doesn't believe in them. I tell him that I wasn't asking if he believed in them. I'm asking if he has kept them. I say, "Let's go through some of them and see how you will do on Judgment Day." He says he doesn't believe in Judgment Day. So, I say, "Let's just surmise that there is one, and see how you will do. Have you ever told a lie?"

Have you ever stolen something?" He's thoroughly hooked. You can't back out now because of his pride. I have done what Paul did in Romans 2:21-24. He said, "You, therefore, who teach another, do you not teach yourself? You who preach that a man should not steal, do you steal [Eighth Commandment]? You who say, 'Do not commit adultery,' do you commit adultery [Seventh Commandment]? You who abhor idols [First and Second Commandment], do you rob temples [Eighth Commandment]? You who make your boast in the law, do you dishonor God through breaking the law? For 'the name of God is blasphemed among the Gentiles because of you, [Third Commandment]' as it is written. ""

I did what Jesus did in Mark 10:18-19: "So Jesus said to him, 'Why do you call Me good? No one is good but One, that is, God. You know the commandments: 'Do not commit adultery,' 'Do not murder,' 'Do not steal,' 'Do not bear false witness,' 'Do not defraud,' 'Honor your father and your mother.'" He was using the Law to bring the knowledge of sin. The only thing that will make a sin-loving sinner want to give up the battle, is the fear of the Lord. Scripture tells us that it is that fear that will cause him to depart from evil (see Proverbs 16:6). If he doesn't fear future punishment, he won't depart from sin, and the way to produce the fear of the Lord is to do what Jesus did. Point to the Law. It's to do what Paul did. Point to the Law. Felix must be made to tremble (see Acts 24:25). Jerk the hook into the jaw; and do it quickly.

Knowledge that God has appointed a Day in which He will judge the world in righteousness makes sinners see that it's in their best interest to depart from sin. But, if I may say so, we depart somewhat unwillingly. Fleeing from wrath doesn't produce contrition (sorrow for sin). Seeing the cross in all its horror, does. Knowing that I am a lawbreaker, and that there are terrible consequences for my actions, makes me fear. But seeing my God pay the fine in the life's blood of His precious Son, makes me sorry. It breaks my hard heart. The Law produces terror. The cross produces contrition. Without the Law that cruel cross has little meaning. The greater I see my sin in the light of God's Law (see Romans 7:13), the greater I will understand and appreciate the mercy shown to me at Calvary's cross.

So, use good apologetics. Find the best bait you can find. Then carefully hide the hook, and as soon as the fish nibbles, jerk the line—swing to the Law. Don't wait. Do it quickly. Don't let the sinner shield his conscience for another precious minute. He may not have that long.

MORE ABOUT THE 2008 ELECTION IN THE U.S.

By John S. Torell

In the previous newsletter I identified the mysterious corporation as the World Government and its different departments at the top. I also want to share with you how the different candidates running for the presidency are not private individuals expressing personal policies but merely a member of a team that is propelling them along. Let me give you an illustration of what I mean.

NASCAR RACING

It is impossible for a young man or woman, to go out and buy a race car, and then show up at a NASCAR race and compete in the race. There are a number of steps which first must be taken by a hopeful driver.

The person has to attend some kind of driving school that specializes in racing. Since racing is a very costly sport, the driver must be a multi-millionaire or be good enough that they are hired by a corporation who will sponsor them. In return, the race car will be decorated with the corporation's logo and name, including the helmet and clothing the driver is going to wear in the race. Once the person has gotten this far, they must compete in qualification races, where they must be able to maintain a top speed and end up in the top section of the drivers seeking qualification. Once the NASCAR association has accepted him, he is now allowed to participate in a series of racing events, which will determine who will be the national champion of the year.

At the race, the driver will have a team working with him. The pit crew will change tires and fill up the tank make repairs or mechanical adjustments. The manager will be in contact with the driver via radio and give him instructions who is behind him, when is the best time to pull in for a pit stop, etc. The car and driver are the main attraction for fans not the pit crew, but without a pit crew, it would be difficult to win a race. The driver is elevated to stardom because of the success of his pit crew.

POLITICAL ELECTIONS

A political candidate must have a sponsor in order to be a serious contender in any type of elections in the United States. The Democratic and Republican parties are the only powerhouse sponsors right now. Most people don't know that the two political parties are run like the Mafia where you have to have money and connections to get in. It definitely helps to be a Freemason. Everybody starts at the bottom with the prospective candidate licking the boots of the party bosses and their underlings.

Candidate nominations for an office are determined by a small group of people in what has been described as wheeling and dealing in smoke-filled back rooms. Thus the general public does not really have a chance to elect a person of their choice; they are simply told these are the candidates, vote for the ones we have provided. If an individual makes a decision to run for an office independently, he must personally pay for the filing and finance his own campaign. Since the media is "in bed" with the Democrats and Republicans, private candidates will only receive negative media coverage, but most of the time they won't even be mentioned by the media. Do you remember George Wallace, Ross Perot and Ralph Nader running for the presidency? All three men were slaughtered by the media and never had a chance to really present their viewpoints to the public.

QUALIFYING RACES

In politics they have qualifying races called "primaries." In order to qualify in the primaries, each party will only take a certain number of applications. Each hopeful candidate must pass certain tests:

- Be in good standing with local party bosses.
- Be certified by the American Jewish leadership as supporters of Israel.
- Be approved by the homosexual lobby and tolerant of people committing adultery and fornication.
- Accept all religions as equal.

No candidate will be allowed in the race if he is a strong fundamental Bible believing Christian. Mike Huckabee was considered as a liberal Christian who was allowed to run in the qualifying races. He was supported by Rick Warren and the Purpose Driven churches. Since the Republican Party is doomed to lose if they do not cater to the religious right, they had no choice but to allow someone who could sooth the Christians. The Republican Party has never liked Ron Paul, but since he had strong local support and was already a Congressman, he was allowed to run. The Republican Party counted on the big media to shut him out, which is exactly what happened.

THE SEMI FINALS

John McCain became the frontrunner in the Republican qualifying race and made it to the semi finals. All the other drivers were told to either get out of the race or be shunned. Mike Huckabee and Ron Paul refused to give up; how much have you heard about them lately?

In the Democratic race, two drivers remain and neither has been able to obtain a sufficient lead. This race will be decided in the smoke-filled back rooms at the Democratic Convention as party bosses will fight behind the scenes and then tell the super delegates how to tip the race. There will be a tremendous pressure put on Barack Obama and Hillary Clinton to toe the line and accept the verdict of who will be the winner and not be a spoiler in the fall election.

THE FINALS

Two drivers will be allowed to race against each other. Each driver has an un-American team controlling the driver. Let's take a look at the teams and see who the people are behind the scenes. Remember, in the fall election, it is the team that is elected, not the driver; furthermore, it is the team that will occupy the White House and tell the winning driver what to do for the next four years.

JOHN McCAIN

John McCain's chief handler is no less than Henry Kissinger himself, a German born Jew, a member of Council on Foreign Relations (CFR), Trilateral Commission and the Bilderburger group. Kissinger is high up on the rungs of the World Government and is known as "Dr. Death" in some nations since he has told political leaders over the years to line up or face execution.

1. Indira Ghandi, the Prime Minister of India was murdered by her own bodyguards on October 31, 1984.
2. Zulfikar Ali Bhutto, the Prime Minister of Pakistan, started Pakistan on its road to a nuclear bomb. Since he did not toe the line according to the Jewish World Government, Pakistani operatives stirred up trouble; he was indicted for corruption, found guilty and hanged on April 4, 1979. His daughter Benazir Bhutto did not fare much better and was murdered on December 27, 2007.
3. The Swedish/Jewish Prime Minister Olof Palme fell from grace with the World Government and was gunned down on a street in Stockholm February 28, 1986.

Here are the rest of McCain's handlers:

- Colin Powell, former Secretary of State under George W. Bush, CFR
- Alexander Haig, former Secretary of State under Ronald Reagan, CFR
- James Woolsey, former director of CIA from 1993-95, CFR
- Brent Scowcroft, vice chairman of Kissinger Associates, Inc., CFR

BARACK HUSSEIN OBAMA

The chief handler for Obama is Zbigniew Brzezinski, a heavyweight in the World Government. He was the co-founder with David Rockefeller of the Trilateral Commission (TC) in July 1973. It was Brzezinski who befriended Jimmy Carter when he was Governor of Georgia and pushed him as the candidate for the Democratic Party. Carter, just like Obama, was an unknown person at that time to the American people. Brzezinski became the National Security Advisor to President Carter and was the driving force of the United States severing diplomatic ties with Taiwan, signing of the SALT II treaty with the Soviet Union and started the process of giving away the Panama Canal, eventually finalized in 1999.

Here are the rest of Obama's handlers:

- Sarah Sewall, Rhodes Scholar, former member of the Clinton administration and a member of CFR
- Susan Rice, CFR
- Joseph Cirincione, CFR
- Lawrence Korb, CFR
- General Merrill McPaek, CFR
- Dennis Ross, CFR
- Jay Rockefeller, CFR and TC

HILLARY RODHAM CLINTON

The chief handler for Hillary Clinton is the American Jewess Madeleine Albright. She happens to sit on the Board of Directors of the CFR. She was a staff member of the Carter administration and served on the National Security Council from 1976-1981. She was appointed as an ambassador to the United Nations by Bill Clinton in 1993 and then served as Secretary of State in the Clinton administration from 1997-2001.

Here are the rest of Clinton's handlers:

- Richard Holbrooke, former UN ambassador 1999-2001, CFR
- Sandy Berger, an American Jew and National Security Advisor for Bill Clinton 1997-2001, CFR

It is important for the public to know, that on September 8, 2005, Berger was sentenced in a Federal Court for having illegally removed highly classified documents from the National Archives and intentionally destroyed some of them to cover up illegal dealings with the Israeli government. Berger used his security clearance to sanitize records when an investigation was started into allegations of Israeli spying on the U.S. government. You might want to ask yourself, why hasn't the media discussed this crime?

- General Wesley Kanne Clark, Rhodes Scholar, Supreme Allied Commander of NATO from 1997-2000, CFR
- Nelson Strobridge Talbott III, Rhodes Scholar, President of the Brookings Institution, CFR
- John M. Keane, CFR
- Kenneth Pollack, CFR
- Michael O'Hanlon, CFR

RON PAUL

Ron Paul is not a certified driver since he has rejected the establishment. There were no CFR handlers on his team and the media shunned him.

BACK TO THE CORPORATION

In principle, the highest branch of the World Government which we are calling "The Corporation," is controlling events in the United States from three departments.

The oldest of them is The Federal Reserve Banks (FRB) consisting of 12 privately owned banks. The Federal Reserve Act was passed into law by Congress in December 1913. It has a governing board and its chairman is appointed by the president and confirmed by the Senate. This is what is known as the Central Bank of the United States, controlling the printing and flow of money, setting interest rates, etc. It is a private corporation and has nothing to do with the federal government. Once the chairman has been appointed and confirmed, neither the president nor the Senate can remove him from power. With the current housing crisis, legislation will be enacted this year to give the FRB additional power of the American economy through control over the mortgage industry. This will be presented to the American people as protection from "meltdowns in the future." Thus the World Government is in total control of all financial development and transactions in the United States.

The next department is the Council on Foreign Relations (CFR), founded in New York on July 29, 1921. The 13 ruling men in the Corporation dictate political developments, which are then given to the CFR, which in turn informs its membership what has to be done in the future.

In 1973 the Corporation decided it needed another department to carry out its political agenda in the United States and The Trilateral Commission was founded (TC)

In order to have more control over foreign governments, the Corporation ordered the CFR to create an international department. This was done in 1954 and became known as the Bilderberger Group.

In addition to these departments, there are a number of so-called "think tanks," one of which is the Brookings Institute. The Corporation needs to educate young people to their way of thinking, so the Rhodes Scholarship was created. This is where young college students are handpicked and sent to University of Oxford in England for indoctrination. Bill Clinton was a recipient of the scholarship.

THE PRESIDENTIAL TEAMS

I hope you have understood that the handlers for the presidential candidates are all members of one of these departments; their job is to make sure that the policies of the World Government will be carried out regardless of the candidate's political party.

Ironically, even if the handlers are from the same organization and are told to carry out the same policies, there is still rivalry between the teams. At stake are high salaries, bonus payments, power and prestige. The American people are oblivious to what is going on behind the scenes and they think that each candidate is their own person, when in reality they are a controlled agent. The Corporation doesn't really care who wins the election as long as their policies are carried out.

NANCY PELOSI IS NOT HAPPY

During the California State Democratic Convention in San Jose during the month of March, 2008, House Speaker Nancy Pelosi complained about the bickering between Hillary and Obama. Pelosi said that she will not back down even though she is under pressure from wealthy party donors on her insistence that the Democratic Party must select a presidential nominee based on the results of state primaries and caucuses, not on the whim of the party's super delegates.

Prior to this on an interview with ABC news on March 16, Pelosi said that the nominee should be selected based on the overall delegate winner in state primaries and caucuses. In a direct quote she said, "If the votes of the super delegates overturn what's happened in the elections, it would be harmful to the Democratic Party."

Pelosi is not worried about the fate of the Democratic Party; rather she is concerned about her ability to hang on the post as the House Speaker. If the Obama team loses, most of their supporters will sit out the fall election in anger. That would hand the Republicans a victory and the House of Representatives could once again go back to the GOP. Since most democrats now are beginning to believe that Obama is their best chance, support for Hillary Clinton is decreasing.

This has made Hillary and her team angry. Twenty wealthy Clinton supporters and fundraisers sent a letter to Pelosi, warning her against making such declarative statements. Clinton's money buddies read like who's who among the elite, restless and wealthy Americans. Why are they concerned? Well, if Hillary is not elected president, they won't be able to line their pockets with more money, not to mention about being invited to the White House for state dinners and other extravagant events.

The rich and the famous, aspiring politicians and established politicians are in a terrible dilemma, they need to choose between Hillary and Obama. The people on the bandwagon for the loser will be treated like dirt by the winners. This is where the contest is real and nasty and where real blood is drawn. There is no way anybody can support both candidates; it's all about choosing one or the other.

WHAT ABOUT THE JEWISH QUESTION?

This is something no candidate can avoid, if they want to be elected, they must toe the line as prescribed by The Corporation. In closing, I want to quote an article written by Aaron Klein, and published by WorldNetDaily on March 25, 2008:

Top Obama adviser: NYC, Miami Jews 'the problem' Also compares Muslim terrorists to religious 'radicals' in Oregon

JERUSALEM – Sen. Barack Obama's military adviser and national campaign co-chairman has implied U.S. politicians are afraid of Jewish voters in Miami and New York City and that American Jews are the "problem" impeding a solution to the Israeli-Palestinian conflict.

Merrill A. McPeak, a former Air Force chief of staff, also compared the Hamas and Hezbollah terrorist organizations to what he described as religious radicals in Oregon and claimed "born-again [Christians]" supported the war in Iraq to help Israel.

Discussing Middle East politics during a 2003 interview with the Oregonian newspaper McPeak stated, "We don't have a playbook for the Middle East. You know, for instance, obviously, a part of that long-term strategy would be getting the Israelis and the Palestinians together at . . . something other than a peace process. Process is not a substitute for achievement or settlement. And even so the process has gone off the tracks, but the process isn't enough."

The Oregonian interviewer asked McPeak whether the problem in solving the Israeli-Palestinian conflict originated with the White House or the State Department.

"So where's the problem?" the interviewer asked.

McPeak replied, "New York City. Miami. We have a large vote – vote, here in favor of Israel. And no politician wants to run against it."

McPeak went on to insist that to solve the conflict, Israelis must "stop settling the West Bank and the Gaza Strip, and maybe even withdraw some of the settlements that've already been put there. And nobody wants to take on that problem. It's just too tough politically."

McPeak did not point to Palestinian terrorism or the recent election of Hamas to power as problems impeding an Israeli-Palestinian peace deal.

As a follow-up question, the Oregonian interviewer asked McPeak whether "there's an element within Hamas, Hezbollah, that doesn't want Israel to exist at all and always will be there?"

McPeak responded by comparing the two terror groups to "radical" Oregonians.

"There's an element in Oregon, you know, that's always going to be radical in some pernicious way, and likely to clothe it in religious garments, so it makes it harder to attack. So there's craziness all over the place."

McPeak said there was "some" good will toward peace on the Israeli side, but qualified, "that's maybe the more cosmopolitan, liberal version of the Israeli population – I think there's enough good will there."

"I don't know if there is still on the Palestinian side, because they've been radicalized pretty well," McPeak said.

The McPeak interview circulated on several large blogs yesterday, including the popular Powerline blog, after it was first pointed out in the American Spectator online magazine by Robert Goldberg, a writer and vice president of the Center for Medicine in the Public Interest.

Interpreting the identity of voters in Miami and NYC McPeak had referred to, Goldberg stated: "Translation (as if it's needed): Jews – who put Israel over every American interest – control America's policy on the Middle East."

Goldberg also pointed out McPeak once claimed Christian Zionists were driving America's policy in Iraq to benefit Israel.

Stated McPeak while discussing the Iraq war: "Let's say that one of your abiding concerns is the security of Israel as opposed to a purely American self-interest, then it would make sense to build a dozen or so bases in Iraq. Let's say you are a born-again Christian and you think that Armageddon and the rapture are about to happen any minute and what you want to do is retrace steps you think are laid out in Revelations, then it makes sense. So there are a number of scenarios here that could lead you in this direction. This is radical...."

McPeak is the latest Obama adviser to be highlighted for controversial views regarding Israel.

WND recently quoted Israeli security officials who expressed "concern" about Robert Malley, an adviser to Obama who has advocated negotiations with Hamas and providing international assistance to the terrorist group

Also Samantha Power, who was described as Obama's closest adviser until she resigned earlier this month after making strong remarks against Sen. Hillary Clinton, advocated in an interview investing "billions of dollars, not in servicing Israel's military, but actually investing in the state of Palestine."

Stated Goldberg: "Obama has a Jewish problem and McPeak's bigoted views are emblematic of what they are. Obama can issue all the boilerplate statements supporting Israel's right to defend itself he wants. But until he accepts responsibility for allowing people like McPeak so close to his quest for the presidency, Obama's sincerity and judgment will remain open questions."

Beware in your prayers, above everything else, of limiting God, not only by unbelief, but by fancying that you know what He can do. Expect unexpected things, "above all that we ask or think." Each time, before you Intercede, be quiet first, and worship God in His glory. Think of what He can do, and how He delights to hear the prayers of His redeemed people. Think of your place and privilege in Christ, and expect great things!

We Christians too often substitute prayer for playing the game. Prayer is good; but when used as a substitute for obedience, it is nothing but a blatant hypocrisy, a despicable Pharisaism... # Humanity is Under Occult Attack by Henry Makow Ph.D.

As you know, the elite attaches great importance to providing us with an external enemy: Huns, Nazis, Communists, Muslim Terrorists etc. It also creates internal enemies by dividing us on race, sex and class.

Thus, it diverts attention from itself, the real enemy, the elite organized in Freemasonry, an international satanic cult which controls our political, cultural and economic life with magical acumen. (See my "How They Control the World")<sup>1</sup>

Their smug victory symbols are everywhere: on the US Great Seal and the logos of countless corporations, the UN, and even the city where I live, Winnipeg.

All politicians who stand a chance are Masons including Bush, Obama, Clinton and McCain. They don't pose serious opposition. Bush has doubled the national debt and cut the value of the US dollar in half but do you hear him criticized for this?

On the international front, Bush and Ahmadinejad, Sarkozy, Merkel and Putin are all members of this club despite pretend disputes. They work for the international banking cartel, aided by a small army of dupes who may or may not be Masons but certainly know how to keep their high paying jobs.

World government, "the New World Order" is the goal of Freemasonry. It will be achieved by a "dialectical process" of phony wars and false flag operations, brainwashing (sensitivity training), propaganda, slander and coercion.

According to Juri Lina's book "Architects of Deception," Freemasonry is Judaism for gentiles. It is based on the cabala and is "the executive political organ of the Jewish financial elite." (pp.81-83)

Masonic Jews run it. Apparently, Jews belong to all lodges but non-Jews can't belong to Jewish ones like the B'nai Brith. These comprise the Executive Branch.

We are witnessing the culmination of a millennium-long crusade by certain Pharisaic Jews and their allies to overthrow Christian civilization and establish a primitive tyranny outlined in detail in The Protocols of Zion.

EXTENSION OF FINANCIAL MONOPOLY

Juri Lina cites Professor Valeri Yemelyanov, who told a Soviet Communist Party Congress in 1979: "the Jewish freemason pyramid controls 80% of the economy of the capitalist countries and 90-95 per cent of the information media." (p.163) (See also my "The Imperialism of Jewish Capital")<sup>2</sup>

In 1938, an insider Christian Rakovsky (Chaim Rakover) described the situation as follows:<sup>3</sup>

"In Moscow there is Communism: in New York capitalism. It is all the same as thesis and antithesis. Analyze both. Moscow is subjective Communism but [objectively] State capitalism. New York: Capitalism subjective, but Communism objective. A personal synthesis, truth: the Financial International, the Capitalist Communist one. 'They.'" They refers to the "Illuminati," the highest rung of Freemasonry.

The Masonic New World Order represents the translation of an economic monopoly into a political, social and cultural monopoly.

On 19th Nov 1937 the influential Fabian Nicholas Murray Butler addressed a banquet in London with the words, "Communism is the instrument with which the financial world can topple national governments and then erect a world government with a world police and world money."

Rakovsky says the real aim of Freemasonry is to bring about Communism. Communism (i.e. the NWO) involves the destruction of the four pillars of our human identity: race, religion, nation and family. This is the real meaning of "diversity," "multiculturalism," "feminism," porn, "sexual liberation" and "gay rights."

WHAT DOES THE OVERTHROW OF CHRISTIAN CIVILIZATION MEAN?

The overthrow of Christian civilization means the end of mankind's spiritual evolution and a gradual decline into an increasingly mean, pornographic, oppressive and violent world.

Christianity holds that human beings are made in the image of God (i.e. have a divine soul) and are one family. We have the potential to evolve morally into better creatures living in a happier more harmonious society. God is Love and Love is the principle of human development. God is a real moral dimension (truth, love, justice, beauty and goodness.) The dire consequences of ignoring ultimate reality should be apparent.

The Masonic financial elite cannot permit man's spiritual evolution. It must transfer our loyalty from God to the rebel angel Lucifer, who is really their alter ego. So they teach us there is no such thing as God or absolute morality or truth. They arrest our personal development by promoting porn and promiscuity thereby undermining marriage and family.

Let's be very clear. We are under occult control. They are changing human nature, turning us into desperate, isolated, selfish and demonic creatures. They do this by destroying homogeneous nations with multiculturalism and invasion-by-migration. They are destroying families by brainwashing women to seek careers instead of families.

You can identify their agents as the dupes who want "to change the world." They are making it worse. "Progressive" is defined by the Masonic agenda of world domination. They don't realize that social programs are bribes to put their agents into power. Fed a diet of lies, trivia, sex and dysfunction, we are to be producers and consumers, debtors and drones – not human beings.

The pagan Masonic spell is cast with an amazing consistency and conformity through the mass media and education systems. For example, lately you cannot escape images of powerful women in male roles and exhortations to women in traditional societies to seek money and power.

In 1909, Paul Copin Albancelli wrote: "Masons repeat what they have heard from the preachers of the Occult Powers: the journalist... the publisher... the pornographer... the professor... The state of mind created and filled in the lodges... is the profane medium met everywhere and the mind is altered by it. And as Freemasons perform this duty as propagandists without revealing themselves as Masons, the activity which they exert is not recognized as Masonic." (The Jewish Conspiracy Against the Christian World pp.173-174)

DISCERNMENT

Freemasonry shows a false face to the world. Lina writes that Freemasonry "is closely associated with socialism and communism, as well as with organized crime. The primary task of freemasonry is to combat knowledge of the real world and to ignore the facts from true history." (p.281)

Exoteric Freemasonry is for the rubes. It is about charity and "making good men better" etc. The real Freemasonry, the esoteric (or occult) known to adepts, is about conquering the world for Lucifer.

Thus, we always must discern between the formal and the informal, the subjective and the objective.

Formally, we live in a free society. Informally our "leaders" are dupes and traitors dedicated to our ultimate enslavement.

Formally, we have a free press and education system. Informally, only those views that correspond to the occult (Masonic, "enlightenment") agenda get a hearing.

Formally, art and entertainment are free expressions. Informally, with a few exceptions, only entertainment that advances the occult program will be encouraged. Countless movies fall under the category of predictive programming- teaching people to expect satanic scenarios and horrifying catastrophes.

Formally, Muslim terrorists flew planes into the symbols of American freedom and prosperity on Sept. 11, causing them to collapse killing over 3000 people. Informally the instruments of the Masonic financial elite – intelligence agencies, secret societies – detonated the buildings to justify gutting civil rights and starting a gratuitous war and $5 trillion boondoggle.

Formally, elections express the peoples' will and desire for change. Informally, elections are required to maintain the illusion of freedom and secure the taxes and bodies needed for endless wars.

Formally, they believe in our country. Informally, they are doing everything they can to undermine it so the population will accept world government.

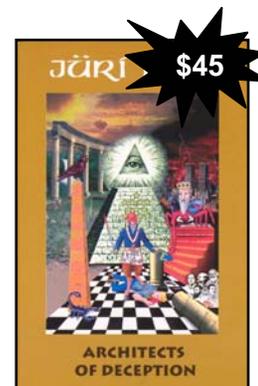

Formally, they are Christians. George Bush is a Christian. Informally, Luciferianism (Freemasonry, Cabalist Judaism, secularism) is the religion of the post-Enlightenment West. George Bush is a Satanist who proudly uses the horned goat symbol.

Dupes are the overpaid people who maintain the "formal" and hoodwink the masses. This includes most successful people in media, education and culture.

CONCLUSION

Right now, I'd say the most revealing book on our predicament is Juri Lina's Architects of Deception." I reviewed it once but I must commend it to you again. <sup>4</sup> Here's another example of the revelations it contains:

Most of George Washington's generals and the signatories of the Declaration of Independence were Masons. The values of the Declaration are valid but they fall under the category of the "formal." Informally, Lina says: "The freemasons created the United States of America as an effective base for their world-encompassing activities and to attain their utmost aim – world supremacy.”

Our lives are built on a monstrous fraud. Our leaders are chosen by their willingness to betray us for fame and fortune. Humanity has passed into a Twilight Zone between reality and an occult spell. Our only hope is for the “formal” to trump the “informal,” and for the dupes to realize that no one will flourish in the Dark Age.

EDITOR’S NOTE:

God had future plans for the United States of America. It would take two hundred years of colonies to prepare the population to form a nation under God, not under a king. In this melting pot, there were Freemasons who had a hidden agenda, but in order to pacify the population, they had a formal type of godliness but denying the power thereof.

Despite the Freemason’s, the constitution of the United States of America is a God-given document based upon the principles of the Bible. In time, evil corrupted more and more, and the light of God has been dimmed in the land of the free and brave. God started America with good seed; Satan put in his bad seed, and just like the parable of Jesus, God is letting them grow together until it is harvest time. (Matthew 13:24-30)
