We are a Bible centered group of believers desiring to grow in the full knowledge of Jesus Christ without compromise to His Word.

"If sinners will be damned, at least let them leap to hell over our bodies. And if they will perish, let them perish with our arms around their knees, imploring them to stay. If hell must be filled, at least let it be filled in the teeth of our exertions, and let not one go there unwarned and unprayed for."

THE CORNER

Dear Friends,

I would like to ask you a question: What is the greatest treasure of all time? I remember as a child reading stories about King Tut of Egypt, Solomon's lost mines and buried pirate treasure. My imagination ran wild with what I would do if I came across such a fortune. I wasn't any different than all the other people in the world who appreciate a good story involving gold bullion, silver coins, diamonds, jewelry and ancient relics. A few years ago, there was a movie about a fantastic treasure that had been collected by different pharaohs, emperors, kings and rulers for thousands of years as nations warred and conquered other nations. This magnificent treasure had grown over time with each conquest and contained thousands of artifacts from different civilizations; anybody in possession of this priceless treasure would be the richest person on earth. The premise for the movie is that the treasure disappeared and those who hid it left a series of clues and maps that the protagonist needed to decipher in order to find it.

Even as an adult, I have to admit that the idea of such a vast cache is intriguing. Human beings are naturally attracted to the idea of wealth because it escapes most of us here on earth. Many people dream of what they would do if they had a never ending money supply, so that they could burn it or give it away and never run out. There's nothing wrong with riches, but it's bad when it consumes you. (1 Timothy 6:10a) This intense desire for prosperity has led many individuals to create fake treasures or stories in which people pay thousands of dollars to be told secrets. People have a desire to know hidden mysteries; that is why Scientology with its "secrets" is so fascinating, because it claims to have the answer on how to have a better life here on earth. L. Ron Hubbard, the founder of Scientology proved that people are gullible and easily misled. If something is wacky and cost money too, well, then people are interested.

The greatest treasure of all time is found in the Gospel message. It's so simple that it is often overlooked or just dismissed outright. Imagine the Creator forming the universe, creating angels, then men and later coming to earth to save mankind from their own sins. Jesus came to the earth in the form of a man to be a witness of the truth of the Father's love toward mankind by sacrificing Himself. If only Pilate had understood the full weight of his question when he asked, "What is truth?" (John 18:37-38) Standing face to face with the Creator, Pilate didn't realize that the greatest treasure of all time was directly in front of him.

The salvation Jesus provided on the cross is immeasurable to any treasure we might have here on earth. That makes the simple message of the Gospel priceless because life on earth is fragile and short compared to eternity. Pilate was more interested in furthering his own kingdom and didn't think about what would happen when he died. This is why the uncomplicated statement by Jesus is so profound. "I am the way, the truth, and the life: no man cometh unto the Father, but by me." (John 14:6)

People are searching for something that is missing in their lives. This intense desire is built into us by our Creator to the intent that we should find our way back to Him at some point before we leave this earth. Before you take your flight to heaven, be sure to tell as many people about the greatest treasure of all time. The ultimate goal is to redeem a lost soul, that's why Jesus came and died on the cross. I want to challenge you to share the Gospel with those around because you never know how God will use a person. The apostle Paul seemed unreachable but God was able to save and use him mightily. Just don't ever give up on a person!

May God richly bless you today,

SHOWDOWN IN JERUSALEM

A DIGEST BY GERT TIMMERMAN

INTRODUCTION BY JOHN S. TORELL

Beginning in the 1990's and up through 2004, I wrote a number of articles published in The Dove magazine called, "Showdown in Jerusalem," "How the Devil Was Defeated in the 20th Century" and the origin of the Cabala. These articles brought out a lot of information that had been suppressed by the media and ignored by the Christian leadership in colleges and seminaries.

Our friend, Gert Timmerman, has done an outstanding job of going through all of the different issues of The Dove and bringing out the main points and key information concerning the question of Judaism, the birth of the Zionist movement and tracing the historical steps. This digest leads the reader through the Cabala, the declaration of Sabbetai Sevi as the Jewish Messiah in 1666, the crypto Jews who today hold political offices in all nations; it also deals with the creation of communism, socialism and fascism; the Russian revolution, World War I and II and the formation of the current political state of Israel.

If Christian Zionists would only take the time to study this truth, there would be no Christian support for the State of Israel and the goal of the Zionist World Federation to some day present the world with a Jewish Messiah which the Bible calls the Antichrist.

Originally, Gert Timmerman constructed this digest to share with friends who are strong Christian Zionists, but as he presented this write up to us, I felt it was a quick and concise review of these historical facts. If you are a serious student of history, you may order copies of the original issues of The Dove magazines from us. We don't charge for the magazines but it is a big stack; because postage has risen dramatically, please contact us about the shipping cost.

FROM CREATION TO THE DESTRUCTION OF JERUSALEM

- This world was created by God and He retains the ownership of it. Psalms 24:1
- God gave mankind the authority to manage the earth. Genesis 1:26-29
- Mankind rebelled and fell into sin, and instead of being blessed, man became cursed. God decided to exterminate all people. Genesis 6:1-8

- Only eight people survived after the flood. When they disobeyed God, He scattered them to every part of dry land on the earth. Genesis 11:1-9
- Then God divided them up into nations and set the boundaries for them. (Acts 17:24-27; Deuteronomy 32:8) From the days of Nimrod until now, people and boundaries have been shifted around by man.
- Abraham came from Ur; he lived in Haran until God called him to live in Canaan. He promised the land to Abrahams descendants. Genesis 12:1-7; 17:8
- God promised that Abraham would be the father of many nations. Genesis 17:4-6
- God specifically told the children of Israel that they could only possess the land of Canaan as long as they were walking with Him. Deuteronomy 28:47-68; Genesis 17:8-9
- The Bible records that the land of Israel was lost in two stages. The 12 tribes were split into two kingdoms. (1 Kings 11:9-13) The 10 Northern tribes formed a kingdom called Israel with its capital as Samaria and the 2 Southern tribes formed a kingdom called Judah with its capitol Jerusalem.
- The Northern Kingdom was taken into captivity by King Sargon of Assyria in 721 BC and the land was settled by strangers. (2 Kings 17:1-41) Later some remnants filtered back into the land and intermarried with gentiles and were given the name Samaritans because they were half Hebrew and half gentile.
- The inhabitants of the Southern Kingdom became known as Jews. John 4:1-43
- The Babylonian army invaded the Southern kingdom in 587 BC.
- God used King Cyrus of Persia to allow the Jews back into Jerusalem after He had destroyed Babylon. The Jews were never able to regain full control of the land or the sovereignty of Jerusalem.
- From 587 BC, Canaan was ruled by Gentile empires which allowed Jews to live in the land but not to rule it.
- The only time that the Jews gained control over Jerusalem was from 165 BC to 63 BC when Judas Maccabeus led a revolt against Antiochus Epiphanes.
- The Roman army captured Jerusalem in 63 BC.

- When Jesus was about 30 years of age and proclaimed to be the Messiah, some Jews wanted to use him to start a rebellion against the Romans, drive them out and set up the Kingdom of Israel again. John 6:14-15
- The Jewish leadership brought a curse upon the Jewish people that will remain until Jesus returns. (Matthew 27:17-26) Jews as individuals can escape the curse if they accept Jesus Christ as their Lord and Savior.
- The Jewish Leadership revolted and took control of Jerusalem for a short time. Then the Roman general Titus came with a large army in 70 AD and slaughtered approximately one million Jews. Jerusalem and the temple were destroyed and God's word was again confirmed that the children of Israel that they couldn't live in the land if they rebelled against Him.

JEW'S FILTERING BACK TO PALESTINE

Around 1500 AD, cabalistic Jews began to filter back to the land of Israel. Joseph Nasi (mid 16th century) was a close friend of the Sultan of the Ottoman Empire. He was very rich and wanted to resettle Jews back into the land of Palestine. His plan involved sending ships to collect Jews from Italy and bringing them to Tiberias, but it could not be carried out because a war broke out between Turkey and the city state of Venice. From around 1540, Jews began to resettle in Jerusalem and Safed around Galilee.

Isaac "Ari" Luria (1534-1572)

Issac Luria was a German-Jewish Rabbi. At this time, rabbinical scholars around Safed began to openly practice the teachings of the Kabala. Luria further developed the Kabalistic teachings of re-incarnation.

Isaac Luria considered himself to be the "Messiah, the son of Joseph," who according to Jewish legend would precede the real Messiah, the son of David. He spread the message among the Jews that the Jewish Messiah would begin to rule in 1648. At the same time, the Christian community started to believe that the Antichrist would appear in 1666.

Sabbatai Sevi (1626-1676)

Sabbatai Sevi was born in Smyrna Turkey and died in exile in Albania. He was of Spanish-Jewish origin and studied to become a rabbi. He came in contact with the Kabbalah in his studies and made it his major study. In 1648, he started to proclaim himself to be the Messiah. He had a personal prophet by the name of Abraham Nathan from Gaza. Nathan studied the writings of Isaac Luria and claimed to have apocalyptic visions that showed him to be the prophet to usher in the coming of the Messiah. He moved in "charismatic gifts". He convinced Sevi that he was the messiah and that he (Nathan) was his prophet. After some mysterious supernatural events by Nathan, the messianic awakening of Sabbatai Sevi began on the 17th of Sivan (May-June) 1665.

Although Sevi was rejected by some Jewish people, the majority of Jews came to accept him as the Messiah. He was arrested while on a ship from Smyrna to Constantinople by the Turkish navy.

On September 16, 1666, Sevi was brought before a court of the Sultan of Turkey and charged with rebellion against the Turkish government. He was given an ultimatum to prove he was the messiah with a miracle or face execution. He dropped to his knees and asked the Sultan to accept his conversion to Islam. The Sultan accepted and he was given a new name Azis Mehemed Effendi. Three of his rabbinical followers who accompanied him also converted to Islam. The Jewish people were shocked and turned to Nathan for answers. It was then that the true nature of the Kabbalah was brought out to the masses. Nathan explained that Sevi had to commit apostasy in order for him to obtain salvation for his followers. The Jews split up over this issue and some turned back to the old form of Judaism but large numbers turned into "secret" Jews who were strong believers in Sabbatai Sevi and the messianic utopia for Israel which would later become Zionism. The birth of Zionism would follow later through another Jew named Jacob Frank.

Meanwhile Sevi continued having visions, writing them down and spreading them in secret to his Jewish followers. He traveled regularly to Constantinople where he would secretly teach and minister his Jewish followers. They were Muslims outwardly but this was only a cover. Sabbatai and his three rabbis were arrested after a Jewish prayer service on September 12, 1672. On December 15, 1672, Sevi was tried for blasphemy against Islam. He should have received a death sentence but was sentenced into exile to the province of Morea (Albania). Nathan continued preaching that Sevi was the messiah and encountered strong resistance from Jewish non-believers. To his followers, Sevi was continually paying the high price of redeeming the Jewish people from sin. They believed that Sevi would some day become king of Israel and subdue all Gentile kingdoms. After more visions, Sabattai Sevi died on the Day of Atonement in 1676. Nathan convinced Sevi's followers that he was resurrected. Nathan claimed to have been visited by Joshua and Caleb who appeared to him. Nathan lived in Sophia Bulgaria and kept claiming that Sabbatai Sevi was the true messiah and that there would be no other one but him. Nathan died on January 11, 1680.

Summary of Sabbatai Sevi Messianic Movement

Jews around the world united in “falling into apostasy,” becoming hidden Jews who would take Gentile names and publicly live like Gentiles but secretly were followers of the Kabbalah and Sabbatai Sevi.

The Jewish leadership started to work on a plan to bring Jews back to Palestine. The ones in “apostasy” advanced quickly into government positions in a number of nations and set the policies for the nations. Within the next 300 years, the new global organization was able to control the nations and most of the economic activities.

THE BIRTH OF COMMUNISM AND ZIONISM

Moses Hess (1812-1875)

Moses Hess was born in Bonn, Germany and died in Paris, France. He was practiced Orthodox Judaism but broke away and embraced the Kabbalah. In 1837, he anonymously published his first book, “The Holy History of Mankind,” which revealed his ideas on anarchic socialism. In 1841, he founded the radical newspaper, “Rheineische Zeitung.” In 1842 he promoted Karl Marx, a German Jew to chief editor. Hess introduced Marx to the Freemasons and to communism. In 1844, Hess introduced Marx to the German Jew Friedrich Engels.

Moses Hess is considered the father of two political movements: communism and Zionism. He was buried in Cologne, Germany, but in 1961 his remains were re-buried in the graveyard of Kineret (Lake of Galilee, Israel) next to the graves of other founders of the modern Zionist socialist movement.

Some of his writings:

- 1841, Die Europäische Triarchie: Promoting a formation of socialism based upon German philosophy, French politics and British political economy.
- 1862, Rome and Jerusalem, the Last National Problem: Promoting Socialism, but he also wrote, “I have always been strengthened by the Hebrew prayers.”
- On the Right of Labour
- On Social and Economic reform
- The red Catechism for the German People: Hess wrote, “My religion is the socialistic revolution.”

The writings of Hess promoted that outside of Judaism the following should happen:

- No person should own any private property. (land, house, car, furniture, etc)

- All humans should be moved into a classless society that is ruled by a group outside the law.
- In order to force people into one classless society, it may be necessary to incite different groups against each other to prevent them from working together and destroying the very fabric of current society.
- To force a socialistic revolution using Judaism, racial strife and the battle between different classes in society.
- A Socialist must embrace Internationalism, with the exception of Jews, there should be no patriotism. Only Jews should be patriotic about Israel.

Hess believed that his ideology could be carried out under the banner of the Jewish Rothschild family. He publicly swore destruction and death to anyone who resisted his teachings on socialism, but in private, he was a religious Jew.

Hess told Karl Marx that the Jews had been given the task to transform the Gentiles into wild animals. Meanwhile his public teachings appealed to the young European people because life was hard for the working class. Here was a system that took the wealth from the rich and allowed all people to live a wonderful life in a utopian socialist society.

THE FATHER OF ZIONISM

Theodor Herzl (1860-1904)

Theodor Herzl was born in Pest, Hungary and died in Vienna, Austria. Even though he graduated from law school in 1884, he became a writer involved with Zionism. He wrote books and various plays about the problems facing the society of his day. From 1891 to 1895, Herzl served as the Paris correspondent for the Vienna newspaper, “The Free Press,” an influential liberal Vienna daily newspaper.

As a successful play-write, Herzl was able to use his influence to promote the idea of an independent Palestinian state. With the rising of anti-Semitism in France, he began to write articles and plays promoting his ideas of how to solve the Jewish issues by having young Jews join the Socialistic movement en mass. He later took a hard stand that the only solution to establish a homeland for the Jewish people was a mass exodus of Jews from countries which were anti-Semitic. In 1895 he wrote a plan to relocate Jews to Palestine. He looked for financial backing from the Rothschild’s when he presented his plan. Max Nordeau (1849-1923), a Hungarian Jew became a supporter of it.

In 1896, Herzl published a book called, "Der Judenstaat," in which he outlined his plan to relocate the Jews to Palestine.¹ The first step was to build a strong political base. The book stirred up emotions in the Jewish community worldwide. The Jewish communities in Western Europe rejected the proposal while the poorer Jewish communities in Eastern Europe and Russia embraced the idea of a Jewish homeland; the Zionist Movement was born with Theodor Herzl as the Father. Herzl knew that a gradual colonizing would only stimulate anti-Semitism, so he advocated a population transfer under international supervision.

Summary of Herzl's Plan:

First was the transfer of the "desperate Jews" fleeing oppression in Russia due to the assassination of Tsar Alexander II, in 1881, by a group of Jewish conspirators. This first group of Jews would be retrained for labor to cultivate the soil and build the infrastructure of the homeland

The second group brought in would be the poor Jews from Eastern Europe who would create vast labor pools which would be used to develop the nation commercially.

Once the infrastructure had been built and the farmers were able to support the people, then the prosperous Jews would be transferred to capitalize on the new Jewish state's trade. The objective would be to bring in Jewish businessmen who could build up the economy of the nation.

The final transfer would be the wealthy Jews who would move in and live comfortably in the land that had been built by sweat and labor of the first three groups.

Theodor Herzl anticipated resistance from comfortable Jews and wrote, "Old prisoners do not willingly leave their cells... Perhaps we shall have to fight first of all against many an evil-disposed, narrow-hearted, short-sighted member of our own race. Whoever can, will and must perish, let him perish, but the distinctive nationality of the Jews neither can, will, nor must be destroyed. Whole branches of Judaism may wither and fall, but the trunk remains."

Very few leaders of the Zionistic movement were religious. Many of them didn't believe in God nor had a regard for the Old Testament. Most of them were atheistic or agnostic and similar to secular Jews today. It was not Judaism, but anti-Semitism created by the Jewish leadership which antagonized the Gentiles that helped to create the political state of Israel. Herzl's plan outlined two organizations that needed to be built before the transfers of Jews could start:

1. "A Society of the Jews" to manage the affairs of the emerging Jewish state. The organization was formed in 1899 with the name "Jewish Colonial trust" was incorporated in England with 2 million Pounds.
2. "The Jewish Company," a financial banking system. This would take care of the transfer of the wealth of the Jews as they move. In exchange for their current financial status, they would be compensated with land, machinery and homes in the new state. It would also take charge of their former financial matters and sell them of to "honest anti-Semites." The Jewish National Fund was established in 1901 to purchase and cultivate land in Palestine, and in 1903, a subsidiary bank called, "The Anglo-Palestine bank," was opened.

Theodor Herzl promised Christian governments good discounts on former Jewish holdings and had no mercy on Jews. They were to give up all their homes, savings, properties and business and move to Palestine and live in kibbutzim.

When Jewish people rejected the idea, Herzl warned them, "Great exertions will hardly be necessary to spur on the movement. Anti-Semites need only to do what they did before and then they will create a Jewish desire to emigrate where it did not previously exist."

ZIONIST SYMPATHIZERS

Various groups have worked separately with achieving the goals of Theodor Herzl:

- Marxist group for Emancipation of Labor formed by George Plekhanov, (a Russian gentile who married a Jewess named Roza) and the Jewish Marxist's Vera Zasulich, Lev Deutch and Pinchus Axelrod. They were later joined in 1895 by Vladimir Lenin, a Russian Gentile who married the Jewess Nadezhda Krupskaya, and went back to Russia and started an underground movement. He was arrested and sent to Siberia, released in 1900 and ended up in Geneva.
- Anti-Jewish publication in Vienna called "Ostara" started by a half Jew named Adolf Joseph Lanz who married to Jewess Libenfels, changed his name to Dr. Georg Lanz von Liebenfels and later added the title Baron. The magazine was blatantly anti-Semitic and promoted the Roman Catholic Church and the pure Aryan race.
- "The Thule Order" was a secret society created by Lanz. It later played a major role in the formation of the Nazi Party and the rise of Adolf Hitler. In 1907 Lanz hoisted up a Swastika flag over the castle in Werfenstein.

- In 1909 Adolf Hitler (a half Jew) met with Lanz and became his student.

Lanz told Lenin in Switzerland, "We counter-revolutionaries give Jews the right to create their own state in Palestine."

- Benito Mussolini at the age of 19 moved to Switzerland and became a student of Marxism. He moved back to Italy after he met with Jewish International Communist leaders.
- At this time the system was in place to move Jews from Europe to Palestine. In order to get the Jews moving, Theodor Herzl became the "Shepherd" and Hitler became the "Prosecutor."
- Some Jews were upset and angry; others were excited about the plan.

Theodor Herzl tried selling his idea at various times:

- The Jewish congress in September 1898.
- Private meetings with the German Emperor Wilhelm II on October 18, 1898 and November 2, 1898. Under pressure from rich Jewish Bankers, Jewish leaders in Germany and Jewish Newspapers in Germany.
- Private meeting with Sultan Abdul Hamid II of Turkey on 17 May 1901, since Palestine belonged to Turkey. Under pressure from Jewish Bankers again, the Sultan asked for Financial aid for Turkey before opening up Palestine. A second meeting with the Sultan in 1902 was refused.
- 4th Zionist congress in 1900
- Testimony in the Royal commission in England where he met with The Rothchild banking house.
- Meeting with Russian Minister of Interior Baron Vyacheslav K von Plehve. Russia promised to lobby with Sultan of Turkey
- 6th Zionist congress in August 1903.
- Greater Action committee in April 1904.

Theodor Herzl died on July 3, 1904. He left behind a foundation to build upon despite tough resistance from wealthy Jews.

THE AMERICAN JEWISH CONNECTION

Jacob Henry Schiff (1847-1920) was a German Jew who moved to New York in 1865 and became a protégée of the Rothchilds. He married the daughter of Solomon Loeb, a Jewish banker. Schiff became the head of the bank in 1885. His wife's sister, Nina, was married to Paul Warburg (1868-1932) of the Jewish Warburg banking house in Hamburg, Germany. He also moved to New York and became a partner in the bank Kuhn, Loeb & Co. Paul Warburg became the first chairman of the federal reserve in 1913. His brother Max Warburg (1867-1946) stayed in Germany and helped to finance the German war efforts during WWII. At the same time Paul Warburg financed the war effort of the American government. It is interesting to note that WWII was financed from both sides by the same banking family, the Warburgs and Kuhn, Loeb and Co. Another brother, Felix Warburg, married the daughter of Jacob Schiff and later became the Chief Operations Officer of Kuhn Loeb & Co.

During the 1890's, young Marxists/Socialist Jews who emigrated from Eastern Europe to the United States received terrorist training in America under the Jewish Masonic Lodge (B'nai B'rith). They returned to Russia and tried to overthrow the Russian government through a revolution. Russia started to refuse American passports and punished the Jewish terrorists. As a result, American Jews accused the Russian Government of being Anti-Semitic.

Jacob Schiff and the Jewish leadership wanted to teach Russia a lesson and encouraged Japan to demand concessions from Russia and relinquish territory from its Eastern part. Russia refused and as Japan got ready to attack. Jacob Schiff arranged a financial boycott of Russia and financed Japanese war efforts. Russia was starved for cash and Japan had all the financial aid it needed. The war began on February 8, 1904. While the war was raging, the Marxist/Socialistic Jewish terrorists struck from within Russia with assassinations of government officials and law enforcement personnel. Prime Minister Viachelav von Plehve was assassinated and the Tsar of Russia sued for peace. Russia ceded territory to Japan between August 9 and September 5, 1905. Jacob Schiff was present at the signing of the peace treaty on September 5, 1905. On December 16, 1905, three hundred Jewish Marxist/Socialist terrorists were arrested following the Black Sunday revolution. Schiff was determined to overthrow the Russian government and replace them with a Marxist leadership. He and his International Banker friends arranged to starve the Russian government of any loans while a stronger nation like Germany would be used to attack Russia. WWI was being planned!

THE RUSSIAN REVOLUTION

Between 1905 and 1914, Russia progressed very well with landownership programs for farmers. Russia gave voting rights to its people and raised their standard of living. Tsar Nicholas gave Russia a representative government and a constitutional monarchy. A legislative body called the "Duma" was created and free elections were held. Jewish Marxist terrorists tried to assassinate Premier Stolypin in 1906. The second assassination attempt succeeded when a Jewish attorney Mordecai Bogrow shot and killed the Premier in 1911. By 1911, Russia produced 40% of the world's crop of grain products.

The Russian population was angry with the Jews because they knew it was the Jewish leadership that had set up all the public violence in order to overthrow the government. Russian mobs attacked Jewish stores and homes and over 800 Jews were killed. The violence continued and by 1911 approximately 50,000 Russians had been killed in bombings, shootings and mass attacks on civilians. In 1906 approximately 600 Jewish Marxist/Socialistic terrorists were executed by the Russian Government. The world started blaming the Russian government of being anti-Semitic. Between 1907 and 1908 another 2,328 Jewish Marxist/Socialistic Terrorists were executed by the Russian Government after trials of military tribunals. The result is that about 35,000 Jewish terrorists fled to Palestine, United States and Europe.

Joseph Stalin (1879-1953)

Joseph Stalin was half Jewish and half Russian. In 1903 he was recruited by the Russian secret police and led a double life. He was arrested 8 times; he escaped and continued his work in the Marxist/socialist movement.

Vladimir Ilyich Lenin (1870-1924)

Vladimir Lenin was also half Jewish and half Russian. He was a Marxists/Socialist that worked for the Jewish world leaders. He was arrested a few times and sentence to exile in Siberia where he married his Jewish wife. After he served his sentence, they lived in Germany, Belgium, England, Poland, and Switzerland before returning to Russia. He was never employed but lived a life of luxury in Europe. He was a member of the French freemasons "Art et Travail."

Leon (Lev) Trotsky (1879-1940)

Leon Trotsky's real name was Leiba Bronstein. He was under the training of Alexander Parvus (whose real name was Israel Gelfand) during high school. Parvus was a Russian Jewish freemason. He not only taught Trotsky in the Talmud but he also introduced him to the Kabala, Zionism and Marxism/Socialism. Trotsky became a member of the freemasons and the B'nai B'rth.

The Russian police arrested him twice, each time he was sentenced to exile in Siberia but escaped both times. Together with Lenin, Trotsky and Parvus helped arrange the Russian revolution. Trotsky was finally deported to the United States where he lived under the protection and payroll of Jacob Schiff.

In an interview with the publication, "New American Journal," on February 3, 1949, John Schiff, the grandson of Jacob Schiff told the interviewer that his grandfather had given 20 million dollars to start the Russian revolution. Other American Jews and Gentiles who also donated to the cause of the Russian revolution were Paul Warburg, Harriman, Rockefeller, and J. P. Morgan.

In 1917, Lenin and Trotsky started the process of taking over Russia. Joseph Stalin joined the group as a double agent, working also for the Russian government. Some 8,000 Jewish revolutionaries joined at St. Petersburg to form the core of the emerging communist party. These men took leadership in the Red Army and in the terrible "Cheka" later renamed to NKVD and then renamed again to KGB.

The Russian revolution was in reality a Jewish takeover of Russia in the midst of WWI, in preparation for the formation of the state of Israel and the coming Jewish Messiah.

American Jewish Committee (AJC)

The AJC was started in 1906 by Jacob Schiff and 60 other well-known influential German Jews to forward the Jewish cause in the United States. The majority of the Eastern European Jews were not happy with the AJC. The AJC considered itself the upper class since they were very rich and the majority of the Eastern European Jews were not Marxist/Socialists but were simply trying to survive in a hostile world. But the Jewish leadership had an agenda of creating a homeland for the Jews in Palestine. Russia and the United States would be used to force the creation of a homeland for the Jews in 1948 when they forced a positive vote at the United Nations.

Jacob Schiff and his friends lived a life of luxury in the United States as did the Marxist/Socialist leaders in Western Europe while young Jewish activists were sent into Russia to stir up trouble. Most of them ended up sacrificing their lives. WWI had been planned for some time and was ready to be implemented.

WORLD WAR I

The World Government secretly promised France and Great Britain the numerous German colonies as spoils of war once Germany was defeated. These colonies included Togo, Cameroon, Namibia, Mariana Islands, Caroline Islands, Marshall Islands, Western Samoa, New Guinea, Rwanda, Burundi, and Tanzania.

A total of 29 nations lined up against Germany and its allies. All of the nations involved in the war had been prepared beforehand. The national bankers were all notified that a war was about to break out; orchestrated and controlled by the World Government through the Rothschild family. Investors were lined up at the stock markets in the different countries and industries were geared up for war production with enormous profits for the operators and shareholders. The war started when Prince Franz Ferdinand of Austria and his wife were assassinated while on a state visit to Bosnia on June 28, 1914. Austria demanded concessions from Serbia, which was a state of Russia and called on it for protection. Austria called on Germany and on August 1, 1914, Germany declared war on Russia and soon France declared war on Germany. During 4 years and 3 months of the war, 8 million soldiers and 20 million civilians died.

Stalin, Lenin and Trotsky would play a major role in 1917 in the take-over of Russia where millions of people were tortured and killed. Together with 200 Jewish revolutionists, they were transported by train through countries of Germany, Sweden and through Finland to St. Petersburg. This operation involved the secret police of Germany, Sweden, Great Britain and traitors within the Russian Okhrana. The Jewish world leadership sponsored the transfer under leadership of the Warburg banking family.

Trotsky had 20 million dollars in gold coins with him when he arrived in St. Petersburg. This was used to buy the non-commissioned officers of the two regiments in St. Petersburg. With the help of these two regiments that were staffed by Trotsky's American trained officers, Lenin and Trotsky were able to take over St. Petersburg and set up the Communist regime with the Red Army. The armed forces that remained loyal to the Tsar formed the White Army.

A total of 14 nations sent troops into Russia to protect the Bolshevik revolution and defeat the White Army. In Western Europe, the war was raging and German troops were fighting against British, French and American troops, while in Russia the British, French, American, German and Japanese troops worked together to defeat the White Army. In 1918, the Bolshevik government of Lenin and Trotsky signed a peace treaty with Germany.

Finland, Estonia, Lithuania and Latvia used this opportunity to declare their own independence while a civil war raged in Russia. There was a terrible hate towards Jews in Russia due to the fact that the Bolshevik leadership was Jewish. More than 100,000

Russian Jews were executed by the White army. The civil war lasted from 1917 to 1920.

During the civil war, Lenin, Stalin and Trotsky ruthlessly killed all opposition and only allowed Communists to work and organize in the Soviet Union. The Russian Jews had no problems; they organized and traveled at will in and out of Russia. This proves that the Bolshevik leadership was in itself a Jewish revolution aimed at taking over Russia.

The Versailles Treaty

The German government sued for peace in October of 1918 and asked President Woodrow Wilson of the United States to act as mediator. The American delegation included members of the American Jewish Committee and the American Jewish Congress (Group of Zionistic Jews), such as:

- Julian W. Mack (1866-1943)
- Rabbi Stephen S. Wise (1874-1949)
- Louis D. Marshall (1856-1929)
- Jacob de Haas (1872-1937), Editor of London Jewish World and Zionists and personal friend of Theodor Herzl
- Nachman Syrkin (1868-1924), founder of Socialist Zionism
- Jewish delegations from Palestine, Canada, Russia, Ukraine, Poland Eastern Galacia, Romania, Transylvania, Bukovina, Italy, Greece and other nations.

A group was formed during the congress called, "Committee of Jewish Delegations to the Peace Conference."

- Secretary General Leo Motzkin (1867-1933), a personal friend of Theodor Herzl
- World Zionist Organization
- B'nai B'rith
- The peace deal imposed harsh conditions on Germany. The Jewish leadership had written into the treaty the assurance of a Jewish homeland in Palestine (a province of the Turkish Ottoman empire), including Jewish rights in other nations. The Peace treaty was signed on June 28, 1919.

Six years later when Hitler lead Germany, he bitterly complained about this treaty being the work of Jewish bankers.

The "Balfour Declaration of 1917" was made while WWI was still raging. The British government by the hand of Arthur Balfour, the British Foreign Secretary, made a declaration and asked Lionel Walter

Rothschild to bring this declaration to the attention of Zionist Federation. It was endorsed by Britain's allies in the war. It was finally endorsed by the League of Nations. The Balfour declaration recognized the right of Jewry to Palestine, while Palestine was still a province of the Turkish Ottoman Empire. From this moment on, the Zionist Jews claimed that they have a legal right to Palestine through "International Law." This claim makes a mockery of the law that God gave Moses and the promise to inherit the land if Israel was to keep God's law. There was a penalty (the loss of the land) if Israel were to depart from the Lord. (Deuteronomy 28)

BETAR: JEWISH TERRORIST ORGANIZATION

Betar is a Jewish organization that helped bring Jews to Palestine. It was founded in 1923, in Riga (Capital of Latvia) by Vladimir Jabotinsky. The organization started as a youth revisionist movement but later developed into a para-military terrorist organization. It is named after the Jew Joseph Trumpeldor (1880-1920). Trumpeldor served in the Russian Imperial army. After attending the first Zionist Congress in 1897, he returned to Russia and founded a Zionist society in Pyatigorsk. He graduated from St. Petersburg University in 1912. He evolved into an anarcho-socialist, which promotes taking over rural areas and using them to launch terror against the state until it had been destabilized and destroyed, and a Zionist and called for the settling of Palestine of agricultural Jewish collective farms. He moved to Palestine and worked as a laborer when the war broke out in 1914. The Turkish government expelled him to Egypt, where he met Jabotinsky. In March 1917, Trumpeldor traveled to Russia with the mission to establish a Jewish legion of 100,000 Jewish soldiers to fight its way down to Palestine and free it from the Turks. When Lenin ordered the legion to be disbanded, Trumpeldor formed a Jewish self-defense organization and became involved in He-Halutz, a pioneer organization of Jewish youth that trained its members for pioneering work and self defense in Palestine. When he arrived in Palestine in 1919, he offered British General Henry Allenby help in forming a Jewish legion of 10,000 Russian Jews. After he was turned down, Trumpeldor worked to unite the different trade unions in order to make it easier to bring more Jews to Palestine. In 1920 Trumpeldor was killed in an attack on Galilee. His efforts only paid off after his death.

By 1939, Betar had 100,000 Jewish members in 26 countries and formed the National Workers Federation in 1934. Betar members became powerful underground fighters in Palestine where they attacked Arab and British troops.

The first Jewish naval training camp in Civitavecchia, Italy in 1934 and in Riga Latvia in 1935 were established and manned by Betar. As was the first Jewish training center in Paris (1934), Lydda Palestine (1938), Johannesburg South Africa (1939) and New York (1941). Since 1948, Betar groups have formed 45 new settlements particularly in occupied territories. The Zionist leaders have at their disposal a powerful private organization. If a dirty job is therefore needed somewhere in the world, Betar forces can be dispatched without any trace to the Zionist leadership.

The plan to take Palestine from the people living there was not known to the majority of Jews. Although a part of the Jewish leadership knew about it and opposed it, the majority of the Jews were deceived by the Zionist leadership. Most were deceived into believing that the Jewish population in Palestine could be built up peacefully and a Jewish state would eventually emerge. Most of the Jews were comfortable with this approach, especially in Eastern Europe and Russia; however, the Jewish people in Western Europe and North America had no intention of being part of this pioneering effort because they were educated and generally more well-off with homes and businesses. Therefore, the Zionist leadership had to create some kind of force to convince the skilled Jews of Western Europe and North America to leave their security and start over as pioneers. The Zionist leadership decided to target the Western European Jews as the American Jews could not be subjected to harsh pressure since they were financing the Zionistic movement. Theodor Herzl's 38 year old plan was going to be implemented.

JEWISH FINANCING OF THE NAZI PARTY

In the early 1920's and early 1930's, large amounts of money were given to the Nazi party from Jewish banks.

- The Bank House Mendleson & Company in Amsterdam made two transfers. One for 10 million USD and one for 15 million USD.
- Kuhn Loeb & Company in New York (later taken over by Jacob Schiff)
- J P Morgan & Company in New York
- Samuel & Samuel of London
- Royal Dutch Shell sent 10 million Guilders as late as 1937.

JEWISH-NAZI COOPERATION

Rudolf Rezso Kasztner (1906–1957)

Rudolf Kasztner was born to Jewish parents in Transylvania, a state of Austria which was transferred to Romania. Kasztner studied and became an attorney, journalist and a leader in the Zionist youth movement "Aviva Barissia" and "Ha-Ihud ha-Olam." He moved to Budapest in 1942 and joined a local Palestine Foundation Fund which was a fundraising organization of the World Zionist Organization. He also held the post of Vice chairman of the Hungarian Zionist Federation.

Kasztner was in the top management of the Zionist movement and authorized to negotiate with the German Nazis and make deals with them. He was accepted by Hitler's regime as Zionist leader representing Hungary. Early in WWII, he had open channels to Henrich Himmler (1900-1945). When Adolf Eichmann (1906-1962) traveled to Budapest in March 1944, he met with Rudolf and worked out some deals after Hungary surrendered to Germany during the war.

In the early days of Hitler's government, an arrangement had been worked out between Nazis and Zionists to transfer Jews to Palestine in exchange for payment to the German Government. Only a small number of Jews were allowed to escape. Of the 750,000 Jews in Hungary, 550,000 were sent to their deaths in German extermination camps.

Kasztner did not work alone. Joel Eugen Brand (1906-1964), a Jew from Transylvania started to work with him in 1943 in rescuing Jewish refugees. Brand received an message from Adolf Eichmann to travel to Turkey and convey the message to the Jewish Agency that Hungarian Jews would be spared and released in exchange for military supplies. A meeting took place with the Jewish agency on June 16, 1944. Brand was arrested by British security forces en route to Palestine and sent to a military detention center in Cairo, Egypt. There he was allowed to meet Moshe Sharrett (1894-1965) the head of the Secret Security Commission of the Jewish Agency and a high official in the Zionist movement. The British Government refused to accept the German offer and the shipment of Hungarian Jews to the death camps began. However, Kasztner was able to negotiate with Neutral nations, and some trucks and other supplies were given to the Germans that resulted in 1,786 Jews being released into Switzerland. Kasztner's efforts were marginal compared to the 550,000 Hungarian Jews who died in Germany. Many of the Hungarian Jews were kept no more than three miles from the border with Romania and were only guarded by a small group of German soldiers since Germany was losing a lot of manpower to the losses against the Allied forces. There were also very strong underground fighters in Hungary which could have overpowered the Germany soldiers. Instead of being warned and helped to flee, Kasztner told the imprisoned Jews that there was no danger and that they should just be patient. The Jews trusted their Zionist leadership and sat like cattle outside a slaughterhouse waiting for their deaths.

Later, after WWII, Rudolf Kasztner was given a government position in Israel as member of the Mapai party. In 1953, he was accused by Malkiel Gruenwald of collaborating with the Nazis and being the direct cause of the deaths of Hungarian Jews. The Israeli government took it very seriously and tried to protect Rudolf Kasztner by ordering the Israeli attorney general to file a criminal lawsuit against Gruenwald! On June 22, 1955, the judge found that the case against Rudolf Kasztner had merit and so the Israeli cabinet voted to order the attorney general to appeal it to a higher court. A vote of no confidence was introduced in the Israeli Parliament, and when Zionists refused to support the vote, it caused a cabinet crisis. If the truth of the Holocaust came out, it could bring down the Zionist Movement and threaten the very existence of Israel. Most Jews didn't know that the Zionists worked with the Nazi's. If the public were informed about the truth, they would react with horror and outrage. The Supreme Court would have started its hearings in 1958, but the Zionist movement couldn't take the chance being incriminated if Kasztner testified. As a result, Kasztner was assassinated on March 3, 1957. On January 17, 1958, the Supreme Court ruled in favor of the late Rudolf Kasztner.

Evidence

The story of Rudolf Kasztner and his collaboration with the Nazi's was reported in a book called "Perfidy" by an American born Jew named Ben Hecht (1894-1964). Ben was a staunch supporter of a Jewish state in Palestine at first but in the end he became a strong anti-Zionist. His book is a well-documented expose of the Zionist movement and how the Zionist Leadership worked with the Nazis in the annihilation of their fellow Jews to create such a hostile climate in Europe that Jews had no other option but to immigrate to Palestine.

More evidence

In 1977 Rabbi Moshe Schonfeld published a book called "The Holocaust Victims." Schonfeld confirmed the writings of Ben Hecht and wrote that the Zionist leadership was concerned only in the creation of the state of Israel, not with saving Jewish lives. The book had photocopied documents supporting the charges of betrayal against the following three people:

1. Chaim Weizmann (1874-1952), a Zionist Leader and the first President of Israel.

2. Rabbi Stephen Wise (1874-1949), a Hungarian born Jew living in the USA.
3. Yitzhak Grunbaum (1879-1970), a Polish Jew and the chairman of Jewish Agency, a high leader in the Zionistic movement and Minister of Interior of the first Israeli cabinet in 1948

Paul Wallenberg was the Swedish ambassador to Hungary. He arrived shortly after 438,000 Jews were deported from Hungary to their deaths in German extermination camps. He issued Swedish passports to approximately 35,000 Jews and made Adolf Eichmann furious. As the Germans would march Jews in what was known as death marches, Wallenberg and his staff would go to train stations and hand out passports to rescue the Jews from being taken. This upset Rudolf Kasztner and his Zionist teams because the goal of the Swedish team was to transport as many Jews as possible to Sweden as soon as the war was over. This was contrary to the goals of the Zionist leadership who were implementing Herzl's plan. Any surviving Jews were to be taken to Palestine, not Sweden. Wallenberg succeeded in bringing out more Jews than Rudolf Kasztner ever did. When the Soviet army invaded Hungary in January 1945, Wallenberg was arrested on January 17. He was charged with espionage and murdered. Paul Wallenberg had exposed the cooperation of the Zionist leadership with the Nazis and this was a secret that could not be let out. Therefore, the Communist/Zionist leadership eliminated a noble man who had given his all to save Jewish men, women and children.

When the debate about the Nazis working with the Zionists would not go away, the Jewish Leadership decided that something must be done to put the issue to rest. If the gentile population found out about the dark shadow over the formation of Israel, it could undermine current and future support for the state of Israel that cannot exist without the billions of dollars it receives in aid every year from the United States.

Edwin Black, an American born Jewish writer and journalist was asked in 1978 to investigate and write a history of the events. With a team of more than 10 Jewish experts, the project took five years. The book was named, "The Transfer Agreement," and it accurately points out a whole list of Jews in the Nazi leadership but the conclusion innocently states that the Zionists who negotiated the transfer agreement could not have anticipated the concentration camps and gas chambers. The book is very well researched but still doesn't tell the history of the Zionist movement and the ideology of Theodor Herzl. Most importantly, it leaves out Herzl's words that "if whole branches of Jews must be destroyed, it is worth it, as long as a Jewish state in Palestine is created."

Edwin Black's book is a great documentation, but it is sad that he and the Jewish Leadership are not willing to face the facts that the Zionist Leadership was the cause of the Holocaust. It is even more sad to think that the Jewish people suffered tremendously during the Nazi regime caused by their own leadership. They were sacrificed for the cause of establishing a "kingdom" on earth, which has no place for the God of Abraham, Isaac and Jacob. (Matthew 23:13-15) Some day in the future the Jewish people will understand that their Messiah, which their ancestors rejected, was the Son of God. (Zechariah 12:10-14)

In 1964 a book by Dietrich Bronder (German Jew) was published in Germany called, "Before Hitler came." The book tried to come to grips with why the German Jews turned on their own people and caused so much destruction of innocent people. The answer given in the book states that the driving force behind the Jewish Nazis, was the old dream to have a Messiah who could establish a world rule with the Jews in power. The same ideology as can be seen in John 6:14-15.

The most prominent Gentile and Jewish-Nazi leaders were:

- Adolf Hitler: half Jew
- Rudolf Hess: Reich Minister; half Jew
- Hermann Goring: Head of German Luftwaffe
- Gregor and Otto Strasser: brothers and leaders in Nazi party
- Joseph Goebbels: Propaganda Minister; Jewish
- Alfred Rosenberg: Editor of the official Nazi paper "Volkischer Beobachter;" Reich Minister for Eastern occupied territories; Jewish
- Hans Frank: legal council of the Nazi party; Jewish
- Heinrich Himmler: Head of Gestapo; commander of the SS; homosexual
- Joachim von Ribbenstrop: Foreign Minister
- Reinhard Heydrich: Security chief and Second in command of SS; later became the Governor of Bohemia and Moravia; homosexual; Jewish
- Admiral Wilhelm Canaris: Chief of German Intelligence; Jewish
- Abram Goldberg a.k.a. Julius Streicher: Editor of the weekly Nazi paper "Der Sturmer;" homosexual; Jewish
- Adolf Eichman: SS Officer; prosecutor; Jewish

- Robert Ley: Ministry of Labor; organized the slave labor camps
- Erich von dem Bach-Zelewski: SS General
- Odilo Globocnik: SS General
- Helmut Schmidt: officer in Luftwaffe

Documents supporting the “exceptions” that Hitler made for German Jews serving in the Nazi party numbered around 1,200. There were 2 Field Marshall’s, 10 Generals, 14 Colonels, 30 Majors and thousands of lower ranking officers and non-commanding officers who received these exceptions.

SUMMARY

From a rational and economical point of view, it doesn’t make sense that the Nazi leaders initiated the total destruction of German Jews and other Jews in Western Europe by their own accord. Historical records show that the German Jews were the most assimilated. Germany had established a friendly atmosphere for Jews since the mid 1850’s which caused them to prosper greatly. They owned and operated banks, factories, and businesses throughout Germany, especially exports which was the lifeblood of the economy. German Jews posed no threat to Germany; in fact, the German economy had become very dependant on them. The German Jews saw themselves as more noble than the eastern European Jews. In the 1920’s the head of the German Jewish bank in Hamburg, Paul Warburg, even advised the German Prime Minister Ebert to stop the migration of Jews from Eastern Europe.

Warburg later told a Wall Street courier that “with Jews, Hitler means the Polish Jews who polluted Germany since World War I began.”

The Nazi leadership was in their late 20’s to early 30’s who had become disillusioned with the different administrations, having lived through WWI and seen the destruction of the German economy. They had been drawn into the occult and many members of the Nazi leadership were members of the Thule Society which had connections to American and British freemasonry. The Nazi religion was a mixture of Thule Society and the Scandinavian religion of the Nordic gods and the myth of the pure Aryan race with blond hair and blue eyes.

The young German Jews were angry with the Jews in England and the United States and blamed them for starting WWI and destroying Germany. The strong Eastern European Jews who made up the Zionist movement had a fanatical dream of establishing a new Israel.

God was not the one who created the political state of Israel in 1948; it was the work of sinful men. Most of the people in the Zionist movement were atheistic, agnostic or followers of the occult Cabala or Talmud.

Moses Hess, Theodor Herzl and other Zionist leaders never mentioned that God had spoken to them to undertake this project. Instead, they were driven by communism/socialism. What they didn’t know was that the force which drove them was the Devil himself. (Revelation 13:1-2)

IS GOD THE FOUNDER OF MODERN ISRAEL?

Why Hitler and his Jewish followers decided to destroy the Jews in Europe is a mystery that won’t be fully known until the Great White Throne Judgment. All that we know is that the Nazi’s and the Zionists entered into an unholy alliance of death and murder which caused pain on a scale that humanity had never before experienced. Theodor Herzl’s book written in 1896, “Der Judenstaat,” spelled out the destruction of some Jewish communities in order to motivate other Jews to move to Palestine.

Something is wrong in the way that history has been written since 1945. The sanitized history that Hitler and his Nazi’s were all stupid and didn’t know what they were doing doesn’t make sense! Hitler was ambitious and intelligent, he understood that killing off the German Jews and their businesses would have been a suicidal disaster for the struggling economy.

If Hitler really hated the Jews, it would have been smarter to hide his hatred and build up the military power economy first, then attack the different nations, and then afterwards, turn on the Jews. Therefore, a power much stronger than Hitler, the Zionist movement with its blue print laid out by Theodor Herzl, and forced him into the policies he made.

THE ANTICHRIST

The Antichrist is going to rule from Jerusalem someday where he will sit in a temple which is not yet erected. God is not going to establish a temple in Jerusalem and institute sacrifices again. This goes directly against the teaching of the New Testament and is blasphemy against Jesus Christ. (Hebrews 9:11-26)

God doesn’t have a special salvation plan for Jews. There is only one way for Jews and Gentiles to be saved and that is through Jesus Christ. (John 3:1-8, John 14:6, Acts 4:8-13, Galatians 3:26-29)

I was online tonight trying to identify the cost of attending Southern Baptist Seminary. In doing so, I stumbled upon your newsletter talking about the deceptions in Rick Warren's teachings. To say the very least... I am blown away.

Most importantly, I know that I have been called into ministry. But after reading your words, I feel it is necessary to invest additional time and research into trying to better understand the unseen influence of the pending New World Religion.

I have often wondered how the world could be so foolish as to fall victim to the teachings of a one world religion. But as I read your newsletter... I was stopped-dead by the realization that I may have already been fooled in one or more ways.

I want to learn more about what you believe. I want to know that I am sharing THE Gospel... and not a fake. I want to be certain of the truth, and nothing less.

One final note... I have felt the call to ministry for some time. However, it was not until tonight that I fully committed in my heart to pursue it. And I believe that it is no coincidence that within moments of making that commitment, I stumbled onto your website.

Thanks so much for The Flaming Sword. It is really on fire! I can't wait to receive each one.

THE WAR IN GEORGIA

A Report by John S. Torell

Our television screens suddenly exploded with pictures and video clips of Russian tanks and soldiers invading the nation of Georgia this past week. Some people thought it was the state of Georgia here in the United States. Sadly, many people don't even know there is a nation called Georgia, and if they do, they have no clue where it's located. Let us begin with a brief historical background of this nation.

HISTORY

Around 400 B.C., the Georgian tribes were united to form the Kingdom of Georgia. The Roman Empire conquered the Caucasus region in 66 B.C. and Georgia became a Roman client state for the next 400 years. In 330 A.D., King Marian III converted to Christianity and this became the state religion.

Due to war between the East Roman Empire and Persia, the Georgian Kingdom fell apart and became a cluster of small kingdoms. When the Muslims began their conquest and started to war against all the nations in the Middle East and Eastern Europe, Georgia fell under the brutal boots of the Islamic invaders.

Prince Ashot I of the Bagrationi family began to reign in 813 A.D. and for the next 1,000 years this family would rule Georgia. Western and Eastern Georgia were united during the reign of Bagrat V (1027-1072). During the years of David IV (1099-1125), the Seljuk Turks were driven out of the kingdom and it was expanded southward into Armenia and eastward to the Caspian Sea.

The Khazar Empire just north of Georgia that existed during the 7th through the 11th centuries cannot be omitted. A part of Georgia was held by them, and since Judaism had become the state religion in this empire, Georgia also has a Jewish community dating back to this time. These Georgian Jews are not blood descendants of Abraham, but descendants to Gentiles who converted to Judaism in the eight century. They are also known as, "The Thirteenth Tribe." However, the World Zionist Organization considers them full blooded Jews and most of them are loyal to the state of Israel.

The Mongolian invasion in 1226 reached Georgia and the kingdom with its capital of Tblisi fell to the Mongols. As the Mongols eventually were defeated and driven out of the area, Georgia again fell into small serfdoms with local tribal leaders fighting for dominance. During the 16th century, Georgia was divided into an eastern province ruled by Persia and the western province ruled by the Ottoman Empire. Many rebellions took place with reprisals against the civilian population by the occupying forces. At one point the population in Georgia had been reduced to 250,000 persons. In 1747, the Georgian people started an uprising and were eventually able to kick out the oppressors and unite the kingdom once again under King Heraclius II in 1762.

THE RUSSIANS ARE COMING

In 1800 the Russians came south and claimed that King George XI had requested for Georgia to be annexed into Russia. This decree was finalized in 1801 and confirmed by Tsar Alexander I, on September 12, 1801. In the summer of 1805, Russian troops defeated the Persian Army and established control over Tblisi. During a war in 1810, the Russians established firm control over the Western portion of Georgia and a number of territories outside Georgia were added to the newly formed Georgian province. Some of the people living in these territories like Ossetia and Abkhazia are currently fighting to break loose from Georgia.

Georgia declared its independence when the Communist take over began in Russia 117 years later. A year later, in 1918, Georgia went to war with Armenia over a land dispute. Great Britain intervened with troops, and from 1918 to 1920, Georgia was under British protection.

It is interesting to note that during the years of 1918-1919, the Georgian general Giorgi Mazniashvili led Georgian troops in battles against the White Army of Russia, which was trying to fend off the communists.

In February 1921, Georgia was attacked by the Red Army and defeated. A puppet communist government was installed in Tblisi, with Filipp Makharadze, a Georgian Bolshevik at the head.

In 1924, the Georgian people revolted against the Communists and were brutally suppressed by the Soviet army. To ensure that there would be no further troubles for the Soviets, Georgia, Armenia and Azerbaijan were all lumped together as a new republic, which became known as Georgian Soviet Socialist Republic (SSR).

During World War II, 700,000 Georgian men were forced to serve in the Red Army. 350,000 of them died on the battlefield with Germany. Thousands of Georgian men hated the Soviet regime and enlisted with the Nazis to fight against the Russians.

From 1924 through 1991 Georgia suffered under the oppression of the Soviet Union until it collapsed and Georgia once again became independent.

THE BEGINNING OF INDEPENDENCE

A demonstration for freedom, like so many before it took place on April 9, 1989, in Tblisi but was brutally suppressed by Soviet troops and resulted in a number of dead civilians. Two years later, on April 9, prior to the collapse of the Soviet Union in November 1991, Georgia declared its independence but in a short time found itself embroiled in a bitter civil war that would last until 1995.

The first elected president of the independent Georgia was ousted in a coup in 1992. Order was not restored to Georgia until 1995, when the former Soviet Minister of Foreign Affairs under Gorbachev, Eduard Shevardnadze was elected president of Georgia. During the Soviet era, he had been the head of the communist party in Georgia and had held a number of government offices.

The Russian government under the leadership of Boris Yeltsin was unhappy with losing Georgia since the region was vital for future natural gas and oil transfers to the West. The Russian intelligence service, now renamed "Federal Security Service," formerly known as the KGB, was used to foment trouble in two regions of Georgia, South Ossetia and Abkhazia. Both regions achieved some kind of independence from Georgia and Russian troops were stationed in the regions as peace keepers. 250,000 ethnic Georgians were forced by Russia and its national separatists to leave their homes in Abkhazia. The Russian government granted Russian citizenship to the people living in these two breakaway regions.

It is noteworthy to point out that Vladimir Putin, the former Russian president and current prime minister was a career KGB officer.

GEORGIA, A HOT PIECE OF REAL ESTATE

Our current civilization is based upon oil and natural gas, without these two components, any nation and its armed forces will come to a stand still.

Since the World Government encourages the existence of different power blocks like the United States, European Union, Russia and China, each government is constantly looking to secure enough oil and gas to run their respective nations. Let's not forget the nation of Israel, the centerpiece in the World Government and the future ruler of a United World. Therefore, any nation that is valuable to any of these power blocks, can expect a presence of foreign intelligence services. This is what happened to Georgia after it broke loose from the Soviet Union.

These intelligence services will work on several fronts, sending in agents to rally people for different causes, stir up trouble and eliminate any opposition.

The Western nations in the mid 1990's, put together a plan to build a huge set of pipelines from oil and gas fields in former Soviet republics and route them through Georgia. There was a pipeline built in 1997-1998 that ended up in the Georgian seaport of Supsa in the Black Sea and another line that snaked through southern Georgia and through Turkey to the Mediterranean Sea. Thus, we are talking about several pipelines, some for natural gas and others for oil. They are operated by British Petroleum (BP).

The American government under the administrations of Bill Clinton and George W. Bush realized that it was important to keep the Russians out of Georgia and pull this republic into NATO and under Western control. The government of Israel also wanted a piece of the cake, but in order to control Georgia, the old Soviet Foreign Minister must be taken out of power. Shevardnadze had been re-elected for a second term in 2000, and as an old school Communist, he walked a tightrope between Russia and the West, but tilted more toward Russia.

ENTER GEORGE SOROS

George Soros is a Hungarian born Jew residing in the United States, one of the world's wealthiest men and on-call for the Mossad (Israeli intelligence service). Over the years the Mossad has taken a number of European Jews and made them into billionaires and been able to use them for Jewish causes. Robert Maxwell (1923-1991) was another Hungarian Jew, who along with Rupert Murdoch, an Australian Jew, built media empires that serve the interests of Israel.

A young Georgian man was selected by the World Government to be the new president of Georgia. Mikheil Saakashvili was born in 1969 and received an education in Ukraine, France and the United States, where he attended Columbia University Law School in New York City where he met his wife Sandra who is from Holland.

In October 2000, he returned to Georgia with his family and was appointed justice minister by Shevardnadze, who trusted the young attorney and started to groom him for further political offices. Mikheil resigned in 2002, claiming that the entire Georgian government was ripe with corruption. In the summer of 2003, George Soros paid all expenses for Saakashvili and a group of his followers to spend time in Belgrade, the capital of Serbia, where they were trained in how to overthrow the government.

THE ROSE REVOLUTION

Once back in Georgia, Mikheil Saakashvili led large demonstrations brandishing red roses. These demonstrations continued and increased in the number of people attending until Shevardnadze was forced out of power. These demonstrations took place in the middle of the winter, and fresh roses had to be flown in on a daily basis. This was paid by Soros, who in turn was reimbursed by the Mossad, who in turn was reimbursed by the CIA, who in turn used American taxpayers' money for this project. It is estimated that $46 million dollars was spent on this regime change in Georgia.

Once Saakashvili had taken over the office as the new president of Georgia, he promised to bring the two breakaway regions of South Ossetia and Abkhazia back under Georgian control, knowing this would spark an armed conflict with Russia. But Israel and the Western powers wanted South Ossetia to be under Georgian control, since the oil and gas pipelines were running very close to the border of South Ossetia. Two years later in an election, he was legally elected president of Georgia with a landslide victory.

BUILDING UP THE ARMED FORCES OF GEORGIA

Without the knowledge of the American people, the Bush administration started to send military advisors and hardware to Georgia. Israel also sent military advisors and sold military hardware to the government of Georgia. Isn't it interesting that Israel receives billions of dollars in aid every year from America and it sells military hardware too. That makes them a winner twice and the taxpayers a loser twice because the military hardware and financial aid given away.

The political ground was laid to bring Georgia into NATO because the Bush administration wanted to place a strong anti-missile defense system in Georgia. Officially, it was to neutralize the Iranian missile threat but it would also neutralize the Russian missile as well. Russia knows this and has bitterly opposed it, promising military action if this takes place.

SHEEP DIPPING

Sheep dipping is a military term for the following cover up. The CIA has armed and maintains secret mercenaries around the world. The majority of these soldiers in these combat units are non-Americans but there are still thousands of American soldiers in these units. Here is how they are recruited:

The CIA puts in a request to the U.S. armed forces of what kind of personnel it needs. Regular military personnel are then contacted and given the option to serve in a secret CIA combat unit with a huge salary.

Once a man accepts the new assignment, he is taken off the official rolls of the U.S. armed forces and ceases to exist.

He is trained and taken to a foreign land where he serves in a clandestine operation. His uniform has no markings, he carries no personal papers, and if he is taken captive, there is no identification that leads back to the U.S. military. If he is taken captive, the American government will not help him and will deny that he is an American service man. He is totally on his own, and usually men who are taken captive are tortured to extract information and executed.

If the man survives his tour in the CIA unit, he is transferred back to the U.S. armed forces and begins to exist again. The time he has served is counted on his records and all promotions given to him are transferred to his official record.

There are CIA combat units operating in many foreign nations, instigating trouble and working to undermine national governments in order to facilitate American policies. The Russians have released information that they have captured American and Israeli advisors, who they claim led the Georgian forces.

GEORGIA ATTACKS SOUTH OSSETIA

On Monday, August 4, 2008, the Georgian army started an offensive beginning with artillery shelling of Ossetian defense positions and six Ossetian soldiers were killed. Four days later Georgian tanks were entering the city of Tskhinvali, the capital of Ossetia. At the same time five villages were attacked by Georgian army units.

On Saturday, August 9, the President Saakashvili declared his nation is at war with Russia and called home 3,000 troops from Iraq. The U.S. Air Force immediately began to airlift the Georgian troops home so they could fight the Russians.

By Sunday, Russia responded by sending in 6,000 soldiers and landing another 4,000 Russian soldiers via the Black Sea. Russian military aircrafts were bombing targets inside Georgia, causing much damage.

On Monday, August 11, the Georgian Minister of Reintegration, Temur Yakobashvili (Jewish) was interviewed by the Army Radio of Israel and made the following statement in Hebrew, "Israel should be proud of its military, which trained Georgian soldiers."

The Israeli newspaper "Haaretz" wrote the following on its web version the same day, "Georgian Minister Temur Yakobashvili yesterday praised Israel for its role in training Georgian troops and said Israel should be proud of its military might." (Yakobashvili was referring to the sheep dipping of Israeli mercenaries Georgia had hired.) "Yakobashvili said a small group of Georgian soldiers were able to wipe out an entire Russian military division, thanks to the Israeli training."

ANOTHER BAY OF PIGS?

In 1960, the CIA had trained a large force of Cuban soldiers in Nicaragua and a year later U.S. Navy landed them on the beach of the Bay of Pigs in Cuba to overthrow Fidel Castro. But once the landing crafts were in the water and on the way to the beach, the President Kennedy gave the order that no further assistance could be given. The promised naval bombardment and air cover was withdrawn. The end result was that the entire invasion force was either killed or taken captive.

The same situation seems to be developing in Georgia. Israel cut off all arms sales to Georgia in July, 2008, even though they knew in advance that Georgian troops had been ordered by the CIA or the Mossad to attack Ossetia in August.

On August 13, 2008, the Israeli Foreign Ministry announced that 210 Israelis and 30 immigrants from Georgia arrived safely back in Israel the day before and that 600 Israeli mercenaries and Georgian Jews, which had assembled at the Israeli Embassy in Tblisi, would be evacuated as soon as possible. In other words, Israel was pulling back its mercenaries and leaving Georgia to fend for itself against the Russian bear.

George Bush on the other hand gave orders on August 13th to start airlifting supplies to Georgia to help its people. The first cargo plane landed in Tblisi with more to follow and U.S. naval forces are also sailing toward the Georgian coast bringing relief supplies. There are also regular American military personnel stationed in Georgia, plus the CIA units.

Condoleezza Rice, the American Secretary of State, has been ordered to fly to Tblisi to assess the situation and give a strong warning to the Russians but there are questions which need to be answered. Who gave the suicidal order for Georgian troops to attack in Ossetia? With no fighter aircraft and only small units of tanks and artillery, the Georgian troops had no chance against the Russian army, navy and air force. Was this attack ordered by some "trigger happy Georgian nationalist" or is it a diversion to cover some other future military operation elsewhere?

Since the Georgian troops were controlled by either U.S. officers or Israeli Army officers, the attack could not take place unless both Washington D.C. and Jerusalem were in agreement. This brings us to the next question. Oil prices have been falling steadily the last four weeks but once BP shut down the oil pipeline in Georgia, the price of oil is rising again. Was this conflict started to boost oil prices since oil consumption has fallen by 800,000 barrels a day in the United States alone?

THE SPIRITUAL FACTOR

It is clear to me that powerful demonic principalities have ruled this area for thousands of years. Wars, atrocities, mass killings, deception and treason have been the norm for the region. Russia is ruled by the demon prince's Gog and Magog and the demon prince of Persia has ruled his region for a long time. These demon powers never die and use generation after generation for their war games. Only God can stop this madness and that requires fervent praying by Christians! Are you willing to pray and fast for this?

Finally, my brethren, be strong in the Lord, and in the power of his might. Put on the whole armour of God, that ye may be able to stand against the wiles of the devil. For we wrestle not against flesh and blood, but against principalities, against powers, against the rulers of the darkness of this world, against spiritual wickedness in high places. Wherefore take unto you the whole armour of God, that ye may be able to withstand in the evil day, and having done all, to stand. (Ephesians 6:10-13)

NOWHERE TO HIDE

By Paul Proctor

July 22, 2008

I'll never forget the day I downloaded the very popular Google Earth software onto my home computer and found stunningly clear and close-up aerial photographs of significant places from my past – and a few from the present. It was absolutely breathtaking to go from a satellite view of the entire planet, as if staring at it from the surface of the moon, down to an overhead view of the old house where I grew up.

But my feelings of fascination turned a little creepy when I clicked on the Google Earth feature called “Street View” and suddenly saw that old corner house from the very road that ran alongside it. And I was shocked to discover that I could easily navigate a 360-degree view of my old neighborhood with nothing more than a cursor and a click. In fact, to see this, you don't have to download any software, just go to the website Google Maps and type in your address. Then click on “Street View.”

Here I was, hundreds of miles away from the old home place, sitting behind my desk in Tennessee, gazing into a computer screen at the collapsing metal fence along which many of my now deceased mother's rose bushes used to grow back in Texas – and the front porch where I used to sit beneath the shade of a big Silver Leaf Maple and watch the cars go by. And, there in the front yard was another tree where a bench-swing used to hang that I put up myself. With a few more clicks, I could effortlessly move up or down the street either way and view three sides of that old rundown residence and yard – each click inciting another poignant memory and all the emotions that accompany a sentimental journey.

After that I found the little house and yard my family lived in the first four years of my life. That place is so old it was abandoned and dilapidated by the time I was a teenager. Yet, there it was, over a half-century later, on my computer screen, renovated and occupied once again. It was like being in a time machine! I also found, of all things, the cemetery where my parents are buried and could even make out the small headstones marking their graves from the satellite photo!

It seems our conspiratorial fears of a coming surveillance society have been all but realized. It's finally here, isn't it? Though the terrifying real-time surveillance displayed in Will Smith's 1998 film, Enemy of the State, looked cutting edge 10 years ago, I'm sure, by today's top-secret standards, it's old school. I would think the technological wonders demonstrated in that movie had to have been obsolete back when it was filmed or it would never have made it to the big screen for public consumption and scrutiny. Even so, the age old rumor of military satellites being able to read a car's license plate from a satellite in space always seemed a little far-fetched to me.

Not anymore.

If I can sit here with my laptop and look at the satellite image of a family headstone on the World Wide Web, Lord only knows what government agencies can see and hear with their high tech gear. I suppose if the public at large was privy to their latest greatest technology we might all be looking for caves to hide in like Osama bin Laden, just for a little privacy.

With cameras now hanging over every street corner and parking lot – over every highway, byway, hallway and aisle way – and in every gas station, grocery store, shopping mall, office complex, government building, restaurant and recreational area we visit, it would seem the only way to escape someone's watchful eye is to move out into the wilderness where there are no paved roads, automobiles, bicycles, pedestrians or surveillance cameras.

But, unfortunately, “the middle of nowhere” no longer exists.

You see, in my Google Earth search for memorable places from my past, I found, out in the middle of nowhere, a little trailer my dad bought back in the 60s that he had moved to a wooded hillside overlooking a pond on a friend's 8000 acre ranch in west Texas where we used to hunt and fish when I was a kid – a rather remote place miles from the nearest farm-to-market road where, even to this day, there are no telephone lines, no paved roads or even an address to receive mail.

Some of my fondest memories are of paddling around that dammed-up desert canyon in a flat bottom boat with a fishing pole. The only sign of civilization out there was an occasional airplane or satellite quietly passing overhead – just tiny specs in the sky.

Now, many of those tiny specs are watching and recording whatever they see – some of which is now viewable on our very own TV and computer screens at home, as if to constantly remind us, there's nowhere left to hide.

Even if we were invisible to the camera's lens, we're easily tracked, day or night by, among other things, our cell phone transmissions, our debit and credit card purchases, our ATM withdrawals, and our automobile's integrated GPS systems – all old technology. Even when you pay cash for something at a little convenience store, your image is, more often than not, recorded along with the items you purchased and the exact time you purchased them by a mounted security camera overhead. The cameras outside the store record your vehicle, license number, the precise time you arrived and left and everyone that was with you.

Does all this post 911 technology make you feel any safer or any freer for that matter?

Me either.

In time, I guess we'll all be able to appreciate the frustration and torment celebrities go through running from the paparazzi. Famous or not, anyone with a simple cell phone camera can snap your picture or record a short video of you and post it on the Internet for all the world to see. And when Google Earth's "Street View" traveling cameras finish photographing everything on the planet, someone will end up with a very powerful tool at their disposal, won't they?

If you believe that people are basically good, Satan doesn't exist and Peeping Sam has your best interest in mind, then you probably see the future as bright and promising. If however, you believe that man is basically sinful, "absolute power corrupts absolutely" and things are going to get worse before they get better, then you're more than likely anticipating an arduous age ahead.

You see, there is indeed nowhere to hide. In fact, there never has been – not from an omniscient, omnipotent and omnipresent God. But, the Devil is none of these, though the scriptures tell us he has aspired to be from the beginning – and may well be amassing some superstructure of surveillance and control through the machinations and machinery of men.

If the thought of this frightens you, just remember: They may be watching you and me, but the Lord is watching us all – and Judgment Day is coming.

"Neither is there any creature that is not manifest in his sight: but all things are naked and opened unto the eyes of him with whom we have to do." – Hebrews 4:14

ART EXPERTS

BY RAY COMFORT

A group of self-appointed art experts stood around a beautiful painting. They admired each brush stroke, with its vibrant colors, and its sheer brilliance. It was utterly unique in style. It was a masterpiece.

One of the experts suddenly noticed a very small signature at the bottom of the painting. He leaned forward to take a closer look, stood back, and with utter disdain said the artist's name and used the "n" word to describe him. They hated this man and all of his work, simply because of his skin color. Immediately they took out a small knife and carefully scraped off the artist's name until it was no longer visible.

God knows (and you know) why those who deny God's existence come up with the same arguments over and over. They, as the Bible says, "hate God without cause." They see the expression of His utterly brilliant handiwork. He gave them the gift of life itself, and painted the landscape of this world with breath-taking beauty, and they scrape any semblance of His name from the canvas. They disdain the God who gave them life simply because of His moral government.

And it's clear that the atheists' aggressive agenda is to remove God's name from schools, from currency, from nature programs, and history books, and at the same time fill movies and television with His name used in blasphemy.

But our concern isn't for God. The Bible says, "God is not mocked. Whatever a man sows, that shall he reap." All they are doing is storing up wrath, that will be revealed on the day of wrath. They are like a stunted, blind and crippled flea, shaking his rebellious little fist at a massive herd of ten thousand wild stampeding elephants. They had better move out of the way while they still have time.

THE SIX-POINTED STAR

DR. O.J. GRAHAM

Originally pagan, the hexagram was used in Baal worship from the days of Genesis. It was rebuked in Amos 5:26 and became known as the Seal of Solomon after he married the daughter of Pharaoh, built an altar to Ashteroth and entered into Baal worship. Since then, usage has continued in Solomonic rituals of freemasonry. Long used in magic and witchcraft, the six-pointed star has been used as the chief symbol of worship to Moloch in burnt human sacrificial rituals. Used by Druids and astrologers, the six-pointed star has been used consistently in the occult, and was used by occultist Adolph Hitler during the holocaust. In more recent times, it has almost replaced the seven-branched candlestick given to the Israelites as an everlasting covenant. Is the 666 seen in the six-pointed star a sign of things to come?

La Harpé – Isabelle Ruy

Harp music, when played in accordance with God's law of love, has the unique ability to refresh the mind and lift one's spirit. This is demonstrated to us in 1 Samuel 16:23, when David, the son of Jesse, brought peace to King Saul's troubled soul through melodies from his harp.

The concert harp, as played by Isabelle Ruy is a small taste of the peace of mind that is available to us through a living relationship with Jesus Christ. May your thoughts drift heavenward as the ambience of God's love envelopes you through the playing of La Harpé.

"This album is soothing, relaxing, and musically interesting. Many are richly blessed by the peace of mind this recording offers."

My Journey to Freedom and Faith

Aina Torell

This is the story of a twin girl who was born in Sweden one year and four months before WWII. When she was two, her father was called to serve in the Swedish Army; for the next five years she only saw him on furloughs.

As a teenager she was swept up in the fast moving life of dancing. But God had a plan for this shy, pretty country girl and guided and protected her. By a divine appointment, she met her future husband on a train and he would later take her to America where she found peace in salvation through Jesus Christ.

This book will not just strengthen one's faith in what God can and will do but it will also lead people to believe and accept Jesus as their personal Savior.
